

MARINE 'MALL' READY FOR BUSY HOLIDAY WEEKEND

Victoria's downtown parking facility (marine division) proved popular today as visiting yachts crowded small craft floats in inner harbor with aircraft also on hand, presaging busy weekend with both Canada and the U.S. celebrating holidays, on Friday and Monday respectively. Yachts are from Tacoma, Seattle, Portland; plane from Vancouver. Transportation companies, businessmen are looking forward to brisk weekend in view of extra facilities provided by new B.C. ferries. A lot will depend on the weather picture, which still is "fair from settled" according to the weather office, but the probability is for mixed clouds and sunny periods, high temperatures ranging from the mid-sixties to the seventies (Times Photo by Bill Halkett)

PREMIER HEADS PARTY TO SUMMIT LAKE

Token Start Expected On Northern Railway

Government, civic and railway officials today travelled to Summit Lake, 30 miles north of Prince George, to inspect the proposed birthplace of the nation's newest railway.

At least a token start on construction of the first mile of steel in the planned Pacific Northern Railway's 600-mile route to the Yukon boundary appeared imminent, with one day left before a deadline expires.

Excitement, confusion and even legal manoeuvring surrounded today's preparations for the ceremonial visit to the PNR's southern terminus. But it seemed certain that Premier W. A. C. Bennett's participation in the trip meant that a three-year-old agreement with Axel Wenner-Gren for a construction start would be met, at least technically, before it expires Thursday. With Mr. Bennett in the group were Lands and Forests Minister Williston, Transport Minister Wicks, Wenner-Gren representative Bernard Gore, PNR director Einar Gundersen who also is executive vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern, PNR engineers and members of Prince George city council who joined the group after their arrival from Vancouver by air this morning.

What Form Will 'Construction' Take

The party boarded a PGE train at Prince George for the trip to the provincially-owned railway's terminus at Summit Lake.

There, they were to view the 95 acres which the government has permitted the PNR to use for establishing marshalling yards, two miles of interchange tracks connecting with PGE right-of-way and the first mile of PNR track heading northward.

Exactly what form the construction start would take was not revealed by any officials in the party. But a token gesture, possibly a sod-turning, was expected.

Meanwhile, the city council of Prince Rupert, 300 miles to the west and located on a Canadian National Railway line, asked the B.C. Supreme Court for an injunction to stop the PNR dead in its unbuild tracks.

A hearing was scheduled in Vancouver for July 6 to deal with the Prince Rupert writ. Prince Rupert claims the PNR would hinder, rather than help, development of the north if built from Summit Lake. It wants the PNR to start at Hazelton, 150 miles east of Prince Rupert, where there is a CNR connection.

Wengren Collapse Seen by Strachan

The vaunted Wenner-Gren empire is crumbling in B.C., Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today.

He said the B.C. government was now apparently favoring Columbia River hydro over Peace River power.

Mr. Strachan quoted a speech he claimed was made by Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston at Kamloops on Monday as stating "the Columbia must come first."

(The Times was unable to confirm reports of the speech.) Mr. Strachan said this was a major policy change and showed the Wenner-Gren plans for developing northern B.C. "will be pushed into the mists of the future."

"CIRCUS" He said the Pacific Northern Railway—which drew Premier Bennett and a plane-load of officials to Summit Lake today—was a "circus."

It was only a one-mile railway.

(The cabinet has approved a go-ahead for two miles of interchange and one mile of the 700 miles of track planned by the PNR.)

One-fifth at least of the PNR is owned by Wenner-Gren Development Co. The company is also behind plans to develop hydro power on the Peace River.

Mr. Strachan linked possible demise of the Peace with the premier's trip to Britain. It was a failure, he claimed.

NO BUNDLES Mr. Bennett had returned without any "bundles from Britain." The premier said "millions" were available for B.C. investment, but he has not been more specific.

"For the last few years we have been told day after day B.C. would lie down and die if we did not develop the Peace River at once and at the same time as the Columbia," said Mr. Strachan.

"The Peace, we were told, was feasibly essential and so on."

"Today we are witnessing the first outward signs of the crumbling of the Wenner-Gren paper empire."

The PNR would be "as hilarious as the Kelowna bond-fire if it was not for the fact that it has been a cruel hoax" on job-hunters in the Peace River area, he said.

200,000 TIBET NOMADS PREPARING FOR BATTLE

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—An army of nearly 200,000 Tibetan Nomads was reported to be fighting its way across Tibet today in preparation for a do-or-die battle with the Himalayan country's Chinese Communist overlords.

The Times of India said the Nomads had begun a mass migration from eastern to western Tibet, where they hoped to entrench themselves to fight the Communists. The Chinese were rushing in troop reinforcements to intercept them.

The Nomads were armed only with rifles and other small arms, the front-page report said, and were unlikely to be able to withstand the Chinese attack for long.

Nepal Protests China Aggression

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Premier B. P. Koirala said today that one Nepali border patrol officer has been killed and 15 Nepalis captured by Chinese Communist forces operating on the border with Tibet.

His statement corrected an earlier announcement that 15 had been killed and 12 captured in the incident last week at Mustang.

Mustang lies in a valley of northwest Nepal projecting into Communist-occupied Tibet.

The government said the Chinese fired without provocation. Home minister H. P. Upadaya told the lower house of Parliament that a strong protest has been filed with Peking, which signed a treaty of friendship with Koirala's government in March.

The agreement March 21 to demilitarize the border zone was part of the provisions between Nepal and China to define the high Himalayan border. One of a number of places where the 500-mile border is in dispute is at the Mustang projection. There were suggestions here that China might therefore contend the clash occurred on its territory.

This was what happened in clashes with Indian forces. That soured Peking's relations with New Delhi last year.

The missing boys were all from Chicago. The camp is a Ukrainian youth camp.

OVER 'MYSTERY WOMAN'

New Storm Brews at CBC

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA — Two of three key personnel within the CBC are expected to put their jobs in jeopardy by refusing to disclose the name of the anonymous woman who appeared on "Close-Up" recently discussing her activities as a divorce co-respondent.

In Ottawa CBC sources said today there was a strong possibility that several "important program people" would make an issue of the corporation being ordered by the government to disclose the name of the woman who had appeared without being identified. This raises a real danger that the CBC may again be wracked by an internal storm such as hit the corporation a year ago with the cancellation of "Preview Comment."

Revenue Minister Nowlan told the Commons Tuesday that he had forwarded a request by Ontario's Attorney General Kelso Roberts to the president of the CBC, Alphonse Ouimet. Mr. Roberts had asked the government to divulge the name of the woman.

Mr. Nowlan said the president of the CBC has "assured me the information would be sent to the attorney-general."

However, a spokesman for the CBC corporation today refused to state that the CBC would provide the information.

He said the president would write a letter to Mr. Roberts but declined to say what was in the letter.

CBC authorities are well aware that if they disclose the name to Mr. Roberts they will stir up another storm within the corporation.

Stable Blaze Kills Owner, 23 Horses

Edmonton Barns Not Insured

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton horse owner was killed and two other persons were injured when fire swept five wooden stables at the exhibition grounds early today. Twenty-three race horses were destroyed.

Rex Ireland, 68-year-old owner and trainer, was burned to death. Mrs. Millie Pederson of Bowden, Alta., also an owner, and a stablehand, Robert McMahon, suffered burns.

Cause of the fierce, one-hour blaze which broke out about 2 a.m. could not be determined immediately. Fire Chief A. J. G. Lauder said he had heard rumors that an explosion preceded the fire and these were being investigated.

The horses were at the track for the meet which opened June 18. Seventy horses were stabled in the old barns, scheduled to have been replaced next week by modern brick structures. More than 400 horses are in stables some distance from the scene of the fire. Racing officials said today's

Mac Urges K To Resume Arms Talks

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan told Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a letter today he hopes Russia will reconsider its decision to withdraw from the Geneva 10-power disarmament conference "so that negotiations on disarmament can be restarted as soon as possible."

Macmillan's letter was delivered at the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow today and released here by the foreign office.

It replied to Khrushchev's letter Monday which was handed over to Macmillan a few hours after the Communist walkout from the Geneva disarmament conference.

In his letter, Khrushchev blamed the West for the stalemate talks and accused it of trying to "dupe" people anxious for the disarmament problem to be solved.

Macmillan said in his 1,000-word reply: "I must tell you frankly that I am deeply disappointed, as well as surprised, at your decision to withdraw from the negotiations."

"The Geneva conference was set up as a result of an agreement between the four foreign ministers last August; it cannot be properly broken off by any one group."

Police Shoot Rioters

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—Police opened fire on a crowd storming a hospital near here today at the height of a demonstration that left four persons dead and nine injured.

One of the dead was a police officer shot by his own gun.

The clash broke out when a crowd of refugees, objecting to the auctioning of vacant lots at nearby Faridabad, stoned a small police party.

Horses Stampeded Out of Grounds

Some stampeded to re-enter the building after they had been let loose. Others dashed wildly about the exhibition grounds and then out into the city.

Fraser, Laver Meet

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (CP)—Neale Fraser and Rod Laver battled their way into the men's singles championship at the Wimbledon tennis tournament today, causing an all-Australian climax. Fraser overpowered India's Ramana-krishnan, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Pearson Wants Action

OTTAWA (UPI)—Opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said today a full meeting of the United Nations disarmament committee should be held to discuss what he called the "sabotage" by the Russians of the special 10-nation disarmament committee.

Some of the horses were, located as far as five miles away along the banks of the North Saskatchewan River. Two were found grazing on the lawn at city hall.

One of the horses, Royal-ende had to be shot because of serious burns. Officials said others may have to be destroyed.

Ireland died when he collapsed as he returned to his bunk for some clothing. Mrs. Pederson was burned when she rushed into the flame-filled barns for a horse. McMahon was burned as he fought his way out of the barns.

Tom Boyd of Richlea, Sask., ran through the barns awakening the occupants and then had to be forcibly restrained when he tried to re-enter to save several of his horses and his clothing which contained between $1,500 and $2,000.

Ireland was awakened by Boyd. Several men said the victim was seen walking through the smoke and flames. He appeared to return to his bunk. Firemen found his charred body near a door leading to a hallway out of the barns.

Officials of the Edmonton Exhibition Association said it may be several days before an official count is available of the number of horses killed.

These horses were known to be killed:

Hi Pagan, Mabe Me, Hobberna, Tangle Sun, Divine Blue, Gold Skies, Bobby Wishart, Super Gallant, Royal Flak, More Flak, Ann Sickle, Sugar City, Car Fare, Procene, Louege, Slide, Polite Victory, Finale, Sun Speck, Thorny Mack, C. K. Blue, Feudal Bar, Royalonde was destroyed later.

KING BAUDOUIN
FROM SCABBARD

King's Sword Grabbed

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—An African nationalist demonstrator snatched King Baudouin's sword from its scabbard at his side today. The demonstrator was quickly overpowered by security officers who at first feared an assassination attempt on the Belgian monarch.

The demonstrator was not immediately identified. He snatched the King's ceremonial sword as the young bachelor monarch was riding in triumph from Ndjili Airfield to Leopoldville, where he will attend Thursday's independence day ceremonies.

Just as the car reached the city limits, the man ripped the sword from the King's belt, unsheathed it and waved it around, repeating "Independence! Independence!"

Steel-helmeted riot police dived on top of the demonstrator.

Just previously, Belgium had concluded a pact with this colonial land designed to keep the Congo's huge reservoir of mineral wealth and manpower in the western camp after it achieves independence Thursday.

During the sword incident, the King paled but remained dignified and upright throughout.

LONDON — Test your reaction meters, installed in Cumbria pubs, so drivers can see whether they have had too much to drink, are doing a booming business.

But not in the way the government intended.

Patrons of the state-owned pubs, in which the government installed these don't-youself-testing machines, have discovered that the gadgets are ideal for a little gambling.

The machines are designed to warn drivers when their reactions are too slow for safe driving. After depositing a three-penny piece, the driver must react to a signal within a few seconds. If he does, he gets his money back and is considered a safe bet on the roads.

If the money stays in the machine, he should walk. But apparently the pub patrons have decided it's more fun to bet on each other's reactions.

900 'Magic Number' For City's Symphony

An all-out drive to sell 900 season tickets for next season's symphony concerts will be made next fall by Victoria Symphony Society.

"If we can reach this objective Victoria Symphony Orchestra will be well on the way to becoming self-supporting," an official said.

The society has already sold 1,900 season tickets for 10 pairs of concerts. If 900 were sold it would mean that 2,800 of the 2,952 seats available (1,476 for each performance) would have been paid for.

The season tickets range in price from $9 to $19.80.

At a meeting of the symphony society Tuesday night, the directors expressed confidence that 900 more season tickets would be sold.

Officers re-elected were Jack Barracough, president; D. R.

Editor-in-Chief of the Daily Colonist since 1943, H. Sandham ("Sandy") Graves was honored at a farewell dinner by his colleagues in Victoria Press Tuesday night, prior to his retirement in July. Saluted as "a dedicated professional" who had served both Victoria newspapers loyally over 41 years, after five years' service, Mr. Graves was presented with a fine telescope by his newspaper friends. The Dublin-born editor, a keen amateur astronomer, intends to pursue his studies in retirement at his home, 1150 Summit.

LONDON — The Evening Standard says Antony Armstrong-Jones will probably take up a new career as a stage designer.

IF SUGAR QUOTA CUT

U.S. Mills in Cuba Under Seizure Threat

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened today to seize American investments in Cuba "penny by penny until nothing is left" if the United States cuts its purchases of Cuban sugar.

Castro made this threat to a cheering, post-midnight rally of the giant Sugar Workers' Federation held in Artemisa, 60 miles southwest of Havana.

Stung by the bill now before the U.S. Congress to authorize the president to cut the U.S. quota of Cuban sugar at will, Castro shouted that for every pound of sugar removed from the quota, his regime would take over an American-owned sugar mill.

U.S. interests own 36 sugar mills in Cuba, but Castro made clear his threats extended to all other American interests in Cuba, valued at more than $500,000,000. "We'll take and take until not even the nails of their soles are left," he told his cheering audience.

Forestry Department 'Not Needed'—Liberal
(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The Liberal opposition said Tuesday it doubts there is any necessity for the federal government to establish a new department of forestry.

Lionel Chevrier (L. Montreal Laurier) said in the Commons that there now are too many ministers and too many departments.

The former transport minister said "it is obvious that all the ministers who exist today are not needed." The cabinet included ministers who are not charged with sufficient duties or sufficient responsibilities.

The federal cabinet comprises 23 ministers responsible for 20 departments.

Mr. Chevrier was speaking on a resolution of Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposing establishment of the forestry department. The resolution later was approved and the bill introduced.

H. W. Herridge (CCF Kootenay West), timber owner since his youth, said the CCF is pleased to support the forestry management legislation wholeheartedly. He was surprised at Mr. Chevrier's negative attitude.

The bill provides for the transfer to the proposed new department of two small branches associated with forestry research in the department of agriculture and northern affairs.

Will Establish Experimental Areas

Mr. Diefenbaker said the department would be able to enter into agreements with provincial governments, make forestry surveys and establish forest experimental areas on federal property.

"I hope that the new department will be able not only to intensify the efficiency of federal forest research but also help to bring about co-operation of research programs conducted by other agencies."

This objective was necessary to enable Canada to increase production of forest products and meet the challenge of expanding world markets.

Harry McQuillan (PC, Comox-Alberni), another forestry operator on Vancouver Island, said the new department would meet long-standing requests from the industry. Canada was far behind forestry work compared with many countries offering strong competition in world markets.

He hoped a national aerial fire-fighting service would be a main target of the new department.

Agriculture Minister Harkness and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton were urged by a Commons committee to get together on proposals for a "comprehensive national land and water development program."

That was a key recommendation in the report of the committee on mines, forests and waters after a series of sitings devoted entirely to Canadian waters. It was tabled Tuesday in the Commons.

Canada's railways should impose a freeze on further layoffs pending a royal commission inquiry, CCF House Leader Hazen Argue declared. Railway personnel have been dismissed by the "hundreds and thousands," he said.

Commons debate on the government's proposed bill of rights will begin Dominion Day, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today.

Delay in Turnover Surprises Liberal

QUEBEC (CP) — Liberal Leader Jean Lesage said Tuesday he and Premier Barrette had privately agreed on July 5 as a tentative date for transfer of the provincial government to the Liberal party.

He said, during a press conference, that he was surprised by the tone of Mr. Barrette's statement earlier in the day that the government does not plan to resign until all official returns of Wednesday's election are in and establish officially which of the two parties—the Union Nationale or the Liberal—is in office.

Mr. Lesage said his government will set up two royal commissions, to inquire into the 16-year administration of the Union Nationale party and into the sale of the Montreal gas distribution system of the

New Pacific Rocket Tests by Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians plan to fire a new series of powerful, multi-stage test rockets into the central Pacific next month about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

An announcement Tuesday night said the new rocket shot will be held July 5-31 over a 30,000-square-mile target area about 150 miles farther to the southeast than the landing area of Russia's first Pacific rocket tests last January.

In their first test the Russians said they fired a rocket some 7,000 miles and came within a mile of the target. The United States subsequently fired a Super Atlas rocket 9,000 miles from Cape Canaveral past the southern tip of South Africa.

Russia warned other nations to keep their ships and planes out of the test area, which lies about 200 miles west of American-held Palmyra Island and within 600 miles of Christmas Island, where the British tossed off their first hydrogen bomb.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the rocket used in the July tests will not be equipped with the final stage. This apparently meant they will not carry warheads.

The announcement came at

Walkout on Peace

WHEN MR. KHRUSHCHEV made his ban-all-troops-and-weapons-within-four-years proposal in the course of a personal appearance before the United Nations last September, there was considerable doubt that so optimistic a plan could be carried out. But there was sufficient hope of progress among the 82-member Assembly to cause the establishment of a 10-nation disarmament committee, which subsequently began negotiations at Geneva. With Russia's walk-out on the committee this week those hopes have been destroyed.

Collapse of the conference is tragic enough in itself. Russia's intention to take the disarmament problem to the United Nations Assembly means merely that there will be full opportunity to launch a propaganda campaign but almost no likelihood of constructive work toward disarmament.

But added to this tragedy—and the existence of the human race itself is at stake in any ultimate consideration of nuclear weapon controls—is the wider calamity of Russia's current course in breaking off negotiation with the West.

The Summit conference blew up when Mr. Khrushchev seized the American spy plane incident as a cause for severing negotiations with the United States. That fiasco has been quickly followed by destruction of the disarmament talks, just as the West was about to present its program. The fear now is that the continuing Geneva conference on nuclear test bans will suffer a similar fate. If so, there will be no doubt that Russia refuses to negotiate while President Eisenhower is at the helm in the United States—which means that at least a year must elapse while the next United States Government becomes established and forms a policy.

In the present state of world affairs such a situation of aloofness must be dangerous in the extreme. The world is too near the edge of the nuclear abyss to risk a return to non-communicating armed-camp conditions.

While the common danger presented by Russia's present course will serve to strengthen the unity of the West, there are factors in the situation which, during a year of tension, could divide the allies. This, no doubt, is part of the Khrushchev plan.

The latest Soviet proposal for elimination of missiles designed to carry nuclear warheads, for instance, closely approximates France's suggestion, but for various reasons of timing and controls had not been favored by Britain and the United States. This could be something on which Mr. Khrushchev might work to create Western dissension, along with his Berlin war of nerves and other items.

At the same time, there is a good likelihood that Mr. Khrushchev's wrecking of the disarmament talks may earn him censure from the many peoples of the world who fear the nuclear weapon age and fervently desire peace and the international machinery that would make peace secure. The contrived walk-out, as a piece of propaganda, may have repercussions against the Russians, when the many African and Asian members of the United Nations Assembly have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

The Fertile Americans

THE RESULTS OF THE UNITED States census are hardly more interesting to the American people than to the Canadian. For the size of the neighboring country, especially as a market for our goods, is a vital factor in Canada's affairs.

The latest figures show that this market is growing at mushroom speed. As of now the United States contains 180,000,000 people, just about ten times the population of Canada. In only ten years since 1950 the American people have increased by 28,000,000.

That increase in a single decade is far larger than all the population Canada has been able to build in more than three hundred years. Only a century ago, at the time of the Civil War, the American population was only 3,000,000 less than the increase of the last ten years. And the rapid, almost explosive rate of increase continues in denial of all the earlier forecasts.

"Before Mr. Eisenhower's successor finishes his first term," says The New York Times, "the nation will probably take on the equivalent of the city of New York." All this represents tremendous problems for American society, but it also must mean in the long run that more and more Americans will be buying more and more Canadian goods.

A Hard Job Ahead

DESPITE ALL THE GOOD intentions in the world, the new independent Republic of the Congo will need a lot of luck when it is launched with appropriate ceremonies on Thursday.

With a native population uneducated in political ways, with a small handful of university-trained men to assume administrative, sociological and legal duties, the ex-Belgian colony will not be in a good position to manage the highly complex machinery of democracy. It is greatly to their credit that the Congolese, under President Joseph Kasavubu, will try.

Already the country is torn amongst scores of political parties, most of them representing the numerous tribes of the territory. There has been great difficulty in forming a legislature and still more in forming a government. For a time, many of the Belgian civil servants will be encouraged to remain and assist in operation of the state, and their help no doubt will be invaluable.

The Republic's predicament has been caused partly by lack of education for independence during the long years when Belgium was in control of the colony, and partly by the rush job that has been precipitated by Belgium's sudden decision, only a few months ago, to relinquish control.

With so many other African states being created from the imperial timber of the last century, it is no doubt that the Congo must keep pace with the new era. But a good deal of outside help, economic as well as political, will be necessary if the Republic is to make its way without resorting to the undemocratic methods into which some of the other new states have been forced.

Exploration In Depth

WHEN THEY ARE constantly struggling for possession of the world's land mass it is pleasant to hear that the nations can join peacefully in exploring the sea, which covers 70 per cent of this small planet. More than a dozen nations, members of the International Council of Scientific Unions, will begin this year a study of the Indian Ocean, in depth.

None of the partners of this huge project is seeking any special advantage for itself. All the knowledge gained on and under the ocean will be offered freely to the world.

Apart from scientific knowledge, the scientists hope to find some immediate sources of wealth in the form of fisheries hitherto unknown. It is believed that fish teem in the Indian Ocean far beyond the present limits of men's fishing fleets. If these unused sources of food can be located they would provide an important addition to the inadequate protein diet of India and several smaller nations.

The Quick-Change Era

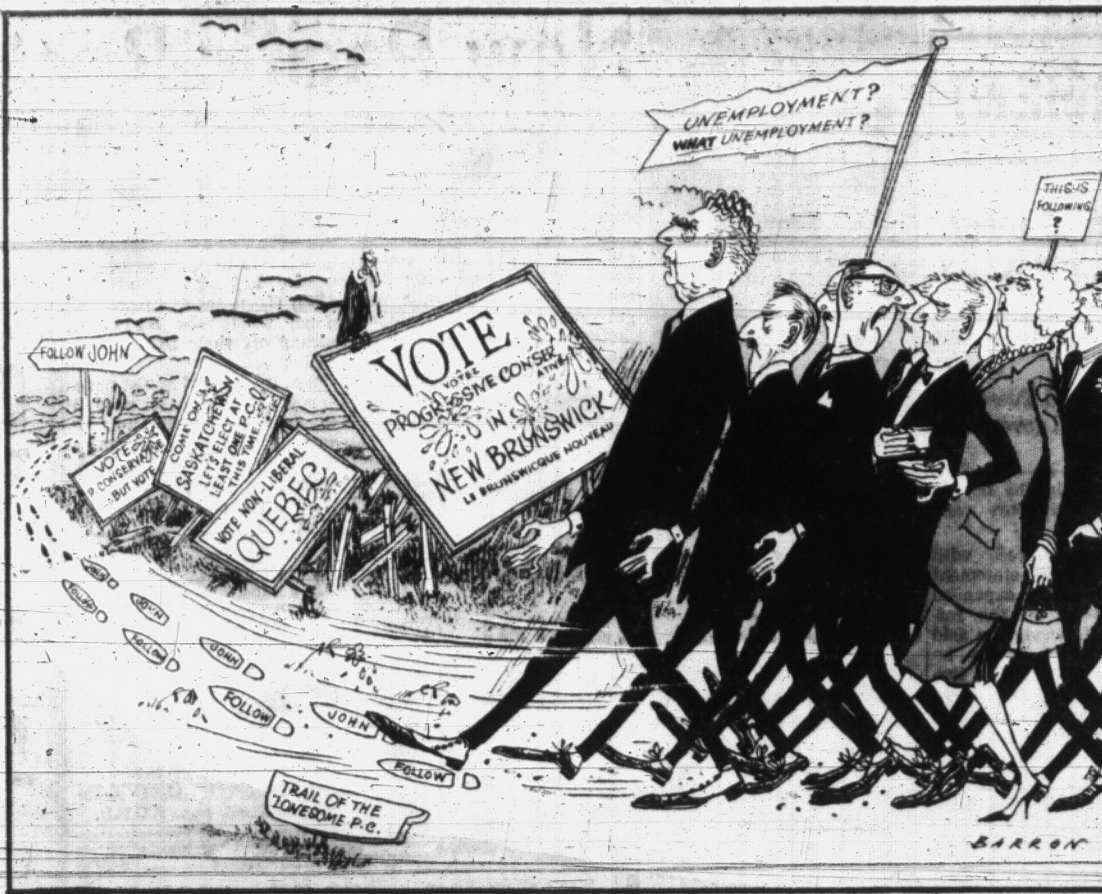

ONE OF THE MOST STRIKING things about our era is the rapidity with which things become obsolete. It is already a commonplace for steam locomotives to be set up in parks as relics of the past, yet is little more than a human lifetime since "modern" steam trains appeared. And already steam's successor, the diesel locomotive—and one which pulled the crack Burlington Zephyr—is being placed in a railroad museum.

Warships completed since the end of the Second World War are already obsolete and are being scrapped—even Britain's mammoth vessel, the Vanguard. The fighter planes of the Second World War, and even of Korea, are declared outmoded. A 20-year-old automobile is almost a museum piece these days, not only by reason of its outward appearance but because of the changes that have been made under the hood.

Almost before we know it—and in scientific circles it may already have happened—various forms of space rockets will be declared obsolete. There will be "old-fashioned" Sputniks, "old-fashioned" stratospheric missiles, "old-fashioned" things we haven't even heard of yet. Our present world will soon be old-fashioned, and before long no doubt we will have an obsolete world-of-tomorrow.

Only man seems to remain as he was—the old-fashioned model. And whether or not this is a compliment depends on how you look at it.

"You've got to admit it was easier following him going forward..."

CONFUSION IN THE RANKS

People: We Look Like Them or at Them

By B. A. TOBIN

A NEWS item tells of a Vancouver police constable who laid a traffic charge against a Chinese citizen, but was unable to make it stick. The man in question styled his hair in a crewcut and wore horn-rimmed glasses. When the moment came in court for the constable to pick out the victim, there were five crew-cut Chinese, all wearing horn-rimmed glasses, in a row at the back of the court. The policeman was unable to identify his man, and the case was dropped.

Tobin

The constable's problem is a common one. Who hasn't been in much the same situation, trying hard to remember what someone looks like and not confuse him with someone else?

Fond Recollection

I wonder if the world today isn't turning out more and more people who look alike, or slightly alike? You meet someone at a social function; weeks or months later you meet him again. Say, isn't that Mr. X...? Or is it only someone who looks like Mr. X? Or, worse, is it someone who looks like Mr. X would look like if he looked like what you remember him as looking like?

This sort of thing can become pretty complicated. And meanwhile the fellow is looking at you in a quizzical way, as though wondering why on earth you don't walk up and speak to him. What he is really wondering, of course, is if you are the fellow he met at the Smith's last week (which you aren't, since you weren't at the Smith's) or just someone who looks like him.

It's all very difficult, and somebody ought to do something about it.

New Slant

It was a wise Chinese gentleman, who, arriving in North America for a visit, was asked what he found the most striking aspect of the country.

"The look of the people," he replied with a smile, neatly turning the tables. "It's the peculiar slant of their eyes."

No doubt he quickly concluded that all white-skinned people look alike, just as Occidentals see the man-mass of India or China as difficult to separate into individuals.

Part of the look-alike complex is probably due to a fixed idea. Most folk have had the experience of thinking they see someone they know on the street, only to find they're in error. But with that start, they may spend the rest of the day thinking they see the same person, and one of the suspects may actually be the right one.

The fact is, no doubt, that we do not recognize friends by seeing all their facial or bodily characteristics; we see only one or two key features and take the rest for granted.

When other people happen to have those particular features, we may be momentarily taken in. The slant of a head, the angle of an ear, a way of sloping the shoulders, the turn of a neck, the jut of a cheek bone—such are the things which determine recognition for us, and these are easily duplicated in other people.

Then we have to call in some of the secondary features and perhaps a closer look—the eyes, mouth, brow, nose, and so on—for verification.

But all that is for people you know. It doesn't help with people you don't quite know. It doesn't help with those desperate moments when from a faltering memory you try to dredge up at least one known feature which will tell you definitely that the smiling fellow before you is Joe Doakes or that he is not Joe Doakes.

Double Negative

The two drunks who agreed that the previous encounter they thought they had had must have been between two other guys have every perspicacious counterpart in almost every social gathering of any size. And with regimentation of coiffure, clothing, spectacles and other accoutrements increasing all the time, the problem is going to get worse instead of better.

Lucky the man these days who can remember who he is himself, and be certain of it. At least he has a good base to start from.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Unselfish Workers

I am very sorry to see the Salvation Army did not get the money to carry on their work. Theirs is the finest organization in the country and the world. They do not build big churches but small chapels where the sad, lonely and often unwelcome can find a warm welcome. Many a spark of self respect is fanned into flame by their help, hundreds are saved from jail every year by their understanding aid.

Many joined the armed services, some never came back. They are the most unselfish workers you will find anywhere.

Discrimination

Mr. Harold Winch recently made a sweeping statement implying that all Canadians coming from Germany are Nazis. This libelous remark cannot be left unchallenged. It is this stereotyping which creates animosity and hate.

The CCF advocates officially the abandonment of discrimination. At the same time a CCF leader is guilty of a gross violation of this principle. The CCF alienates in this manner some 30,000 Canadians in Vancouver, some 100,000 in Toronto and the largest ethnic group in Canada, apart from the English and French-speaking people.

This double talk of the champions of civil liberties and anti-segregation is a deception of the ordinary people. These champions condemn South Africa's racial policies while at the same time there are restrictions against Negroes in Vancouver, Toronto, Dresden and other places. They condemn the people of the southern United States and at the same time discriminate against Jews in Ontario, Chinese, Japanese and Hindus in the West. Catholics in Protestant regions and vice versa, immigrants in the labor force, etc.

The land registries in B.C. are full of covenants that "no person of East Indian or Asiatic descent except those of the white race" may buy the property in question. B.C. had until recently a law prohibiting Chinese Canadians to work in certain jobs. There are still professional restrictions regarding Japanese Canadians, I was told.

Let us clean our own house before we point the finger at other peoples without being familiar with their problems.

Here I would like to quote the English Judge, Lord Atkin, in one of his famous decisions and apply this quotation to Mr. Winch: "The habit of making unfounded generalizations is ingrained in ill-educated or vulgar minds, or the words are occasionally intended to be a facetious exaggeration."

Is Mr. Winch's mind vulgar and uneducated or did he intend as a public leader to exaggerate? If the latter, then why? GRACCHUS.

Striptease

It seems to me that Bruce Hutchison's article in the June 23 issue entitled, "Look Beyond the Striptease," is probably an attempt to convince himself and his readers that this striptease had invaded London at present is "only for the moment." He says in conclusion, "England is still there, all its clothes and faculties intact."

Could it be that this lack of modesty trend, if not checked, might lead to the loss of the faculties of the mind? I have known of several people who have had to be placed in mental homes because they finally wanted to discard all clothing entirely.

Of course even these extreme cases are not, and never have been, hopeless. In the eighth chapter of Luke we read of a man who was out of his mind and would wear no clothes, but later, the record says, "he was found clothed and in his right mind."

I wonder if some of the modern fashion trends that some women are following at present could lead to tragic results? We are a recognized Christian nation and take the Bible as our guide. That Book admonishes women "to adorn themselves in modest apparel."

People's Flag

Is it permissible to ask the press as to whether the so-called British Columbia flag, which the premier is purported to have brought from Great Britain, is really a flag for the province and its people, or a form of standard to be flown at the various stoppages across the province, while the cabinet is in circuit?

It is noticed that the flag, or standard, was raised at a recent stoppage of the pilgrimage by Mr. W. A. C. Bennett himself, admittedly, it could be of magical political value—or could it?

When of course we have a "legally" declared national flag it will prove the confounding of the confused thinking both federally and provincially.

Meantime British Columbia's crest is of inestimable value as a sign of the "lies that bind."

Sole Originator

Mr. Jones, B.C. president of the C.C.F., speaking over the air with the Roving Reporter June 27, repeated that threadbare lie, "that the C.C.F. was the originator of the Old Age Pension Act," whereas the truth is that A. W. Neill, Independent, Alberni, was the sole originator of the Old Age Pension Act, the C.C.F. was not in existence at that time.

He also stated the C.C.F. would solve the unemployment problem with government ownership. Evidently he has never read the history of nationalization under the British Labor Government, and its failure to solve unemployment, or its calling out the troops to break strikes, etc.

WASHINGTON

The U-2 Report

By MAX FREEDMAN

THE majority report of the Senate foreign relations committee on the U-2 plane episode is by no means as impressive as it may look at first glance. The report failed to command the support of all Republicans and Democrats on the committee. Since the days of Senator Vandenberg it has been a tradition of this committee that it presents an unanimous report on all important subjects. That tradition has failed to survive the controversy caused by the failure of the Summit conference.

The partisan nature of the report was emphasized by its publication on the eve of President Eisenhower's return from his ill-omened mission to the Far East. Most of the Democrats wished to revive memories of the Summit fiasco as the president defended his decision to visit Tokyo, a decision set aside and vetoed by the Japanese mob.

Freedman

Majority Report

The majority report was signed by fourteen of the seventeen members of the committee. Senator Capehart, a Republican from Indiana, was the only member who openly dissented from the entire report. He accused the majority of writing a political document whose publication at this time did not advance the interests of the United States.

In a statement, Senator Wiley, senior Republican on the committee, said the summary of the evidence was accurate but the conclusions drawn from this testimony were "politically loaded." It will be recalled that the committee heard witnesses in secret with a transcript being published later only after it had been censored for security reasons.

The majority report is both a triumph and a defeat for Senator Fulbright, the committee chairman. He succeeded in obtaining a moderate censure of President Eisenhower for assuming personal responsibility for the flight but this criticism was much softer than he wished. The committee then refused to make any criticism at all of President Eisenhower's conduct at Paris.

Secret Testimony

On the basis of secret testimony the committee has killed the recurrent rumor that Captain Powers, the captured pilot, was an unreliable American agent or even a double agent working secretly for the Russians.

It exempts from blame all those directly responsible for the flight as a mere exercise in espionage and reserves all its criticism for those in Washington who failed to supervise the flight in the context of national policy.

Even on this point, however, the committee cannot speak with authority, for all the witnesses pleaded executive privilege and refused to explain why the flight on May 1 had to be made despite its proximity to the Summit conference.

Secretary of State Herter, Secretary of Defence Gates, and Mr. Allan Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency all testified that the flight was seeking important information but they declined to state what it was, even under the cover of secrecy before this committee.

Thus the committee was driven to make its inevitable criticism of the lack of planning and responsibility in Washington. It might have spoken with greater authority had it, phoned Mr. Dean Acheson for his opinion. When Mr. Acheson was Secretary of State he had a liaison officer with the Central Intelligence Agency—at present he is Ambassador in Austria—and no major decision was taken by the agency unless Mr. Acheson agreed with it. Everyone in Washington in those days knew that President Truman would support Mr. Acheson if an appeal were brought to the White House, so Mr. Acheson's word was final.

Flights Vetoed

Mr. Acheson has told this correspondent that he vetoed a proposal to have flights over Russia because the Central Intelligence Agency failed to meet his test.

He challenged the agency to prove that the gains would outweigh the risks if a plane should one day fall into Russian hands and if the American pilot should begin to talk about his mission. In other words Mr. Acheson foresaw the exact situation which developed when Captain Powers was captured.

He also foresaw that the "cover story" prepared in advance would be mischievously inadequate to defend American policy from world criticism. The "primary" for the state department which the Foreign Relations Committee now seeks—can be obtained the moment one has a strong Secretary of State with the backing of a President who works at his job and knows what is happening in Washington. Neither Mr. Herter nor Mr. Eisenhower can pass this test.

On questions of policy the most important point made by the committee is its finding that the United States, even under the best of conditions, can make only a "marginal" contribution to Mr. Khrushchev's struggle with the militarists and Communist China, if such a struggle does in fact exist.

Once again the committee declares that the evidence of such a fundamental struggle in the Kremlin remains a matter of conjecture but it argues that Mr. Khrushchev, bad as he is, is better for the free world than the people who would be challenging him.

This conclusion, though very sound, carries its political risks, for Mr. Nixon will certainly attack Mr. Khrushchev in the presidential campaign. He may accuse the Democratic majority on the Foreign Committee of protecting Mr. Khrushchev from his enemies and opponents.

For Canadians the lessons of the U-2 flight are three in number. The United States will continue to conduct its espionage activities in Russia but it will do so by new methods. The Democratic Party refuses to treat Mr. Khrushchev as if he is another Hitler. Both Republicans and Democrats want an early agreement with Russia on the control of outer space.

Springboard to Beauty

BRADFORD, Yorkshire. The beauty of Bradford is a paradox. It is a city of contrasts. A city where the old and the new are so close together that they seem to be one. A city where the old is so new that it seems to be a new discovery. A city where the new is so old that it seems to be a new discovery.

Stott

The Yorkshire moors and the Yorkshire dales are splendid. The little villages so close to the former wool capital of the world—if it isn't the present wool capital—have a pastoral charm. But if you come into Bradford from Wakefield—as we did, the prospect is depressing. Outside Wakefield the slag heaps begin, tails of an industrial surge which gave Bradford importance and prosperity and symbols of the coal and iron age which was a major factor in Britain's pre-eminence among trading nations not so long ago.

The city of Bradford has paid its price in soot and grime. But the people of Bradford are doing something about it. Large areas are under smoke control now. That means that certain fuels are condemned. Residents and building proprietors have to turn to combustibles that do not fill the air with heavy carbon. The districts are being extended and many of the smoke-darkened structures which give the town a funeral look will eventually be washed clean.

Beyond that, Bradford's planners are widening their main streets as old buildings come down and are creating more open space where there have been smaller squares. That applies to the town centre, Forster Square, named in honor of a great educator whom Bradford adopted and whose statue commands the region in a small grassed plot.

There is a conscious pride in Bradfordians as they go about the job of making their city more attractive. It is a daunting task but they are a heroic and tenacious people. Faint heartedness is not a Yorkshire characteristic.

"I get a little impatient with Londoners who talk about the ugliness of the industrial north," said the stalwart Yorkshireman, who came north from a night out in the big city on the same train that carried us. "If it weren't for the industrial north, where would England be?"

LONDON LETTER

Churchill Home Draws Tourists

LONDON. Popular with tourists coming across the Atlantic is a visit to Chartwell, home of Sir Winston and Lady Churchill in Kent.

For 30 cents one may stroll around the grounds and, with luck, get a peek at the famous couple if they decide to take a walk on the terrace.

This year there is a bonus for visitors.

In the grounds is a red brick house which contains the large, L-shaped studio in which Sir Winston has done some 500 of his paintings. More than 200 hang on the walls there now.

Formerly visitors merely knew the studio was there, drawn blinds preventing them from getting a closer look.

But now, perhaps in celebration of one of his paintings fetching $20,000 at a Sotheby's auction the other day, Sir Winston has ordered the blinds to go up and visitors form long queues to peer through the windows at what must be, on Sotheby's valuation, more than $3,000,000 worth of paintings.

War echoes: (1) Yet again the Dieppe Raid is rehearsed. This new appraisal is in A Bundle of Sensations, published by Chatto and Windus. The man making this latest examination of the disastrous operation is Goronwy Rees, who was an intelligence officer with Gen. Montgomery when, as South-Eastern Army Commander, Monty was responsible for the mounting of the raid.

(2) Many Canadians who were overseas will remember the name of Gen. Sir Oliver Lees, the man who took over command of the Eighth Army from Monty in Italy when he departed to get involved in D-Day. The Canadians were under Gen. Lees for the Battle of Cassino.

Monty we hear a lot from these days, but whatever became of Lees? When he left the army in 1946 he had no similar desire to stay in the spotlight.

He now spends his retirement as a cactus grower and is one of England's leading experts on them. Says Lees: "The real challenge of an army of cacti is that you can't order it around."

In view of the big influx of West Indians during recent years, the Institute of Race Relations has been trying to work out what Britain's colored population now is.

Getting an accurate figure is not practical since the newcomers, being British, don't have to register as aliens and it is difficult to count heads.

The Institute's estimate is between 205,000 and 210,000. London has by far the most colored people, a minimum of 90,000, with Birmingham next with 25,000, followed by Liverpool and Manchester with 8,000 each.

'Heat's On' for Greenhouses

The small greenhouses which have sprung up in recent years are beginning to feel the heat.

Many owners tell us they cannot use them in summer because they are too hot during the days.

There are several ways of lowering the temperature of a greenhouse a few degrees, although admittedly it is more difficult with a small house than a large one.

The vents and door should of course be opened wide. Usually, however, there is no air circulation through the length of the house. If possible, remove a few lights of glass in the opposite end of the door, and arrange them so that they may be fully or partially opened.

Even in winter this arrangement can be useful to provide through ventilation.

Damping of the benches, paths and underneath the benches will provide humidity without saturating the plants in their pots. If the thermometer is checked before and after the damping process it will be found to drop as much as 10 deg. F.

With experience, the gardener learns, or feels, the precise moment when this damping will be beneficial. There seems to be a certain pressure on the head when the atmosphere of the greenhouse is too hot and dry.

Another great aid to lowering greenhouse temperature in summer is the ancient practice of applying lime wash to the outside of the glass.

Hydrated lime mixed with water and splashed on in an irregular pattern will do the job for a small structure, and drop the temperature another 10 degrees.

The dappled light thus achieved seems to be appreciated by most plants which an amateur gardener is likely to have in his greenhouse.

A combination of all these methods of lowering temperatures will provide practically ideal conditions for growing a wide range of plants in pots during the summer months.

IN SOUTH AFRICA

Catholic Activity Curbed

ROME (UPI) — A key factor behind the severe restrictions on Roman Catholic activities in South Africa during the past five years, the government has refused to issue permits for establishment of new Roman Catholic parochial schools for non-whites and has closed a number of old schools each year by refusing to renew permits.

Authorities in some areas have made establishment of new churches in non-white communities difficult by refusing to grant building permits to Roman Catholic congregations.

Authorities are enforcing segregation laws in the area of religious instruction and worship, making it impossible for some white priests to live with their congregation and in some areas, for white and non-whites to attend mass together.

Only in rare cases does the government grant entry permits to Roman Catholic missionaries from countries outside the British Commonwealth.

The sources stopped short of referring to the restrictions as religious persecution. But one source said with feeling that "the Roman Catholic Church will have a hard time for many years in South Africa."

'SISTER KENNY' FUND IRREGULARITY PROBED

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Irregularities in nationwide fund-raising drives of the Sister Kenny polo foundation were charged Monday by Minnesota's attorney general who said legal action may be necessary to recover funds he alleged were improperly diverted from the foundation.

Attorney-General Walter Mondale said only 47 cents of every dollar contributed to the foundation by the public between 1952 and 1959 was left for hospitalization, treatment, research and training facilities.

His report listed contributions at $30,574,000.

SOLUTION MONDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other desirable prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngsters who ask the first question answered each day receive a 50-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

What Causes A Mirage?

These little tricksters seem to occur out of nowhere and they pop up to fool us on land and sea. Actually, they are pictures painted by sunlight and air. Since a layer of warm air is necessary to paint the picture, we see most of them in the summer. The most common mirage appears on the road. Some distance ahead we see, or think we see, sheets and pools of water. If a car is coming towards us, it is reflected in the mirage upside down. But the whole picture disappears before we get close enough to examine it.

Rays of light, striking the earth, carry an image of the scenery. If this were not so we could not see. For these rays of light bring a picture of the scenery to our eyes. Sometimes, rays of light bearing a picture or image of some object are forced to bend or turn around. When this happens, the image is taken and put somewhere else. Then we do not see the real object, but a mirage picture of it in the air.

Disappears at Close Range

As we get nearer to the mirage, it disappears for two reasons. There is now less air to fool us between us and the image. Also, the angle at which we look changes. Light tends to bounce off an object at the same angle at which it strikes it. As we get nearer, the angle becomes sharper and only the long sloping rays, coming from a distance can fool us.

All these tricks are caused by sunlight bent by layers of warm and cooler air.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK Jan Murray's daughter, Diane, six, was rehearsing a song, "Catch a Falling Star," for the school show the other day, and Jan was listening attentively and appreciatively as a parent should.

"Darling, when you come to the word 'star,' Jan advised her, 'you should make a little gesture like this...'"

"NO I WON'T," announced his daughter. "My teacher says that's not the way to sing a song."

Jan, the idol of millions of TV fans, the star of night clubs, summer theatre and benefits, smiled patiently.

"Darling," he said, gently, "Daddy's been in show business 25 years. Who do you think knows more about singing a song your teacher or me?"

"My teacher," exclaimed Diane, "knows more about anything than you do!"

That's one of the stories Jan Murray'll probably tell when he returns to NBC-TV Monday, Sept. 5, with a new show called "Charge Account." It's "family stuff," one of the TV commodities that's highly saleable today.

"Gimmick or situation comedy is what they want," Jan told me between shows at the Latin Quarter where he's currently starring. "Charge Account" will be a gimmicks show—a word game that I hope the public will go for like crossword puzzles, although it has nothing to do with crossword puzzles.

"But the family stuff interests them, you get to be a member of everybody's family."

When "Treasure Chest" went off the air last December while "allegedly the No. 1 show," Jan found time to tour the country—and everywhere he found fans urging him to go back.

"We must have had 80,000 pieces of mail saying 'Don't go off the air—not just postcards, but five, six-page letters. The trouble is, you don't read 10 per cent of your mail!'"

Jan claims to be watching international developments closely. "Take those seven Astronauts," he pointed out. "Only one is going—we need the other six to drag the one guy into the missile."

Jan hopes to get a few laughs on TV, of course. "Outside of Ed Sullivan and John Cameron Swayze, who's getting laughs?" he asks.

"DON'T PRINT THAT!" A famed actress will journey to a European rejuvenation clinic this summer for a face-lifting job. ... A top female jazz star is singing the blues; her tax headaches have her in hock for more than $60,000.

Robert Preston's hot again for the lead in the "Music Man" film. ... Lana Turner, who owns a big hunk of her "Portrait in Black" picture, may pay $550,000 in taxes on it.

Singer-comedienne Dorothy Loudon, who owns part of a limousine service, bought an apartment house. ... Duo: Elaine May and Mike and Elaine's lyricist Sheldon Harnick (of "Fiorello!") ...

The Broadway Theatre has the town's only female theatre manager—Mrs. Fanny Comstock.

EARL'S PEARLS: You can't blame a girl for marrying a man for his money. Maybe she couldn't figure out any other way to get it.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: They tell of the woman who went to a psychiatrist for the first time, but couldn't talk till she had a bag of groceries in her hand.

LANA TURNER ... heavy tax burden

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Nothing is quite as embarrassing as watching your boss do something you told him could not be done. —Quote.

Walter Slezak's annoyed about the parking problem. His daughter and her boy friends park themselves in the living room every evening. ... That's earl, brother.

Credit Union Prize to Locals

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

TAKE A ROW—Lorne Merkley, Maurice Shaw, Jean Jamieson and Mrs. Eggle Lindstrom... Board members of the Victoria Provincial Government, Employees Credit Union, this foursome wore smiles as wide as the Legislative Building this week.

Malone

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES—A recently-nominated Progressive Conservative candidate tells this tale: Travelling by auto to Penikese he made a point of stopping work crew's and asking for whom they toiled... Each promptly gave the name of the construction, excavation or road-paving firm with which he was associated.

Nearing Penikese the candidate slowed his car when he saw a youth waving a red flag, indicating men were working ahead... The candidate stopped his car beside the youth and asked, "Who do you work for?"

"I work for Mr. Garibaldi," said the lad. Wonder if that alias will fool the RCMP, Phil?

NO MORE 9 TO 5—Nobody who works for Imperial Oil in B.C. has a longer service record—45 years—than H. D. "Dudley" Foster... District manager of Imperial for the coastal area, Mr. Foster says "au revoir" to the daily grind Friday when he begins to enjoy the fruits of the company's annuity plan.

In the five years since he was posted to Victoria, Dudley Foster has been active in community work, particularly the Community Chest... He joined Imperial in 1915 as a clerk, worked as a salesman in Chilliwack, Vancouver and Cranbrook before becoming resident manager of the Nelson area in 1940... He was appointed district manager of the coastal area in 1944, moved here 11 years later.

Following his retirement, supervision of the company's sales activities in Victoria and on the coast will be undertaken directly from the marketing region office in Vancouver... Head man there is J. D. Urquhart, sales manager.

MOMENT OF DECISION... Two large companies will hold shareholders' meetings in the next fortnight to consider mergers... Carleton Oils Ltd. has called a meeting for today to consider a proposal to sell to Western Decalta Petroleum Ltd. all its assets and undertakings... The effect of the proposal indicates an equity value of two shares of Carleton for one of Western Decalta.

B.C. Telephone Co. shareholders will meet July 14 to consider the merger of North-west Telephone Co. with BCT... North-west provides service in Campbell River and other parts of northern Vancouver Island, as well as other less populated centres in B.C.

BCT plans to acquire 900,000 common shares of North-west in exchange for 144,000 ordinary shares of BCT and then transfer the assets and properties of North-west to BCT... If approved by shareholders, the merger has to get the consent of the Board of Transport Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission.

SCUTTLEBUTT SCUTTLED... A branch manager of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing was on the phone quickly after a strong rumor published here had the triple M company opening a branch in Victoria in the near future... Said the manager: "The company is not contemplating as far as I know opening an office in Victoria. I have no doubt that it might happen. I think the business is there but it's moving slower than we first anticipated. In the long-range view, however, we are quite optimistic about Victoria's future."

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons opposition tried to get the government to agree today to a joint inquiry with the Senate into unemployment, provoking heated disputes.

Effect of the prime minister's replies was that the federal government considers it has no responsibility for unemployment. Opposition Leader Pearson said.

Labor Minister Starr said the federal government would be glad to get any advice on unemployment from provincial or municipal agencies and would announce steps to be taken in due course.

transportation and hydro proposal for the Rocky Mountain Trench, has been the centre of an intense political crossfire since the company was officially formed several weeks ago.

Opposition spokesmen claim the railway must first receive approval of the Public Utilities Commission, but the government and PNR spokesmen counter that construction can proceed with Transport Minister Wicks' approval under the Railway Act.

The PNR earlier this month postponed its application for a PUC certificate, which touched off a flurry of speculation that the company never would be able to meet the June 30 deadline for a start on construction.

SET PRICE—Although no official statements have been made, it is understood that clearing of the 35-acre marshalling yard site at Summit Lake began immediately on the heels of a cabinet order lifting the property from Crown reserve.

The government, although allowing the railway to use the land, still has to set a price on it and make a legal transfer.

One report says a main construction camp will be erected quickly near Summit Lake.

J. E. BROWN

Ex-School Inspector Laid to Rest

Funeral services were held at Metropolitan United Church Tuesday for James Elmer Brown, a former Saanich school inspector, who died here Saturday following a brief illness. He was 73.

Well known by thousands of teachers and pupils, Mr. Brown began his teaching career at North Vancouver in 1912. He served as vice-principal at Lord Roberts and Grandview Schools, principal of General Gordon School, and for 18 years was the supervising principal at Strathcona in Vancouver.

Many Victorians will remember him as the principal who was honored by Japanese parents with a tour of Japan in 1930, where he was a guest of the Japanese government and attended the Emperor's garden party.

In 1934, he was appointed a provincial school inspector and went to Smithers. He also served as an inspector at Cranbrook and Penikese.

He came to Victoria in 1944 and retired in 1953.

He is survived by the widow, Elsie, 5417 West Saanich Road; three daughters, Mrs. George (Marion) Draney of Bella-Coola, Mrs. Fred (Betty) Trent of Kamloops, Mrs. Dorothy Everson of Victoria; two sons, Willard and Philip, Vancouver, and several grandchildren.

NO MYSTERY IN CHINATOWN

'Forget About Charlie Chan'

Chinese-Canadian businessman, Jack Lee, told Victoria Kiwanis Tuesday their ideas about the Chinese people were based far too much on Charlie Chan books.

Mr. Lee, a vice-president of the Kiwanis, said misunderstandings about the Chinese people had resulted in much unpleasantness to them.

NO MYSTERY

"Chinatown is not a mysterious place—just a business centre and meeting place," he said.

"If we know more of the background and traditions of a race then we shall know why they do certain things in a certain way."

He traced the history of the Chinese in North America back to the days of gold rushes and the building of C.P.R. railroads and listed some of the impositions forced on them.

"It was not until after World War II that they were allowed to bring their wives and families to join them. Only 15 years ago they were prevented from entering certain professions."

GONE NOW

Fortunately, those conditions were now past history.

He frequently heard it said that Chinese were "more law-abiding than others" but he found it embarrassing. They were human beings like everybody else and subject to the same weaknesses.

Chinese, however, had greater home ties than other nations. The greatest crime a man could commit was to bring disgrace on his family.

DOUBLED UP

Children of the local community were expected to attend Chinese schools as well as the regular ones. He believed the double education made for better citizens in the future and in turn they created a healthy society.

"You are proud of your English, Welsh, Scottish, Irish, French or German heritage," said Mr. Lee, "and I am proud of my Chinese heritage—but we are both proud of being Canadians."

Canadian air carriers flew 105,715,000 revenue miles in 1959, up to 10 per cent over 1958.

TANKER SINKS LOWER WHEN TOWLINE GOES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)

The water-logged tanker George MacDonald snapped a towline and settled deeper in the Atlantic 50 miles from shore early today.

None of the 501-foot Sinclair carrier's crew was aboard when the disabled craft broke a towline. Another tanker, the J. C. Dyer, was towing the MacDonald toward Charleston, S.C.

None of the 43 aboard the stricken ship was injured. Details of the Monday night accident—described as the collapse of a seawater casing in a condenser—were still lacking.

The 28 crew members brought here were rescued by the Esso Scanton.

Fine of $50 For Failing To Kill Cows

Saanich farmer, Thomas Byron MacNutt, 4149 Grange, was fined $50 in Saanich police court Tuesday for failing to slaughter three diseased cows.

The cows, condemned by federal order in November of 1959, were suffering from brucellosis. MacNutt was found guilty three weeks ago in the same court for failing to comply with the order.

Magistrate William Ostler agreed with prosecutor Kenneth Murphy's suggestion that the minimum fine be imposed "in view of the fact that you have now complied with this order."

Brucellosis is a contagious, incurable disease potentially dangerous to humans.

NEW RULING DESIGNED TO MAKE 'EM HUSTLE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Inter-City Lacrosse League referees have been instructed to enforce a new rule imposing penalties for walking the ball up the floor.

The first time a team walks the ball up the floor in a game, a facelift will be called. For each subsequent infraction, the opposing team will gain possession of the ball.

League officials say over-all attendance for the first 35 games of the season is down. New Westminster and Vancouver show slight increases over 1959 but Victoria and Nanaimo show decreases.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK — Guys on the scramble are confused by level propositions. Larceny they can handle. But honesty in any form mixes them up. That's why they can't figure the switch of the money with brains on the Floyd Patterson-Ingram Johansson fight. It was a square transaction.

The big hustlers shovelled up a ton. Just before post time, when large bets generally are down, they made their play with a sneaky quickness. No gimmick is suspected but the money came up on Patterson in large bundles. Angle guys, who look for the edge in every scrimmage from gin running to golf, can't dig up an explanation why the G-notes were needed out of the monogrammed bill clips.

The price was beat down to even bones from 8 to 5. Johansson by the unanticipated activity. The solid men, who state their opinion with cash, started telephoning about three hours before the fight. They took the dwindling odds on Patterson as if they were buying war bonds. Until the books backed up, they pressed it.

"They eluded the country," a guy in the gambling business told me.

The small shots, amazed by the course of the high rollers, abandoned Patterson. In many instances they took the worst of it, bucking their belief in Johansson, panicked by the sudden appearance of the money with brains.

"I like Johansson big," said the gambler, "but I win a pot on Patterson."

I asked him why he had changed. "I seen what the money's doing," he replied. "I took myself off Johansson and went to Patterson the last minute, because I don't look to challenge the money with brains."

Kinky fights generally provoke this kind of stampede. Seldom has a match as uncorrupted as this caused such a flurry in the clandestine market of the country's gamblers. The guys who bet on Patterson only because they heard that the intelligentsia of their racket did were sending it in blind because they thought a fix was in.

One guy with a couple of thousand on Johansson was told to swing with Patterson.

"You hear something?" he asked.

"Fat Tony and Gil Beckey are moving orders on Patterson," the friend said.

Rich Gamblers the Only Smart Ones

"He must have plenty of help then," said my informant whose faith in such as Fat Tony and Beckey is based on the unchallenged truth that rich gamblers are the only smart ones.

Of course, the only help Patterson had was his two fists. But the name-dropping goaded the retreat from Johansson. Fat Tony was a prosperous but obscure shylock until crying Bill Rosensohn, the Ivy League hustler, brought him into the promotion of the first fight as the surreptitious financier.

As a gambler out of the casinos of Kentucky, Beckey has a good reputation among his kind as a man who never wets. But his friendship with Crying Bill led him before the grand jury as the liaison man between Fat Tony and the Ivy League.

I don't know if Crying Bill made a wager on the fight, but he touted Patterson in a recent interview.

If all the guys I ran into who said they bet Patterson were telling the truth, he would have gone off at 10-1. Dorothy Buck, the beautiful spouse of the boxing journalist, challenged her old man's choice but couldn't get on. She called her stepfather, Abe Attell, the old featherweight champion, and requested him to find a book to take her action.

"I wouldn't have it on my conscience letting you throw twenty away," said the old champion. "The Swede's a lock. Stick the money in your kief."

I don't bet on fights. If I did, I'd be in hock forever because I would have busted myself. No one ever made a more stupid pick and, even if I did have a lot of money, it doesn't console me. Among the reprimanding messages was one from Frank Capra, the great director, who asked me if I had a second-hand crystal ball for sale. But I took Johansson because I didn't realize he was more actor than fighter.

He tried to keep his heavyweight championship without being hit. In the second round when he pincupped Patterson with one of the few right hands he used, Johansson acted as if he were saving his kisser for his next picture. He probably would have taken Patterson out with the next punch. But he went into conference with himself and allowed Patterson to recuperate by backing up.

I think Patterson is a brave and gallant kid. Memory didn't harass him and he made his fight with valourous recklessness. But he isn't a great fighter. Johansson was a terrible one, but he was a hell of a hit on the Dinah Shore Show.

Of course, Dinah didn't throw any left hooks.

TAKE GOOD CARE OF THAT ARM

Getting a lot of attention around the Couch household on Brooke Street, is sturdy right arm of Richard Couch. Youngster made local Little League baseball history Sunday when he struck out all batters he faced while pitching Fairfield Little League game. Feat was reward for steady training sessions with father, Charles, who tests arm for signs of soreness. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett)

STRIKEOUT SENSATION

Richard Proves Work Pays Off

By IAN SMITH

Practice paid off for Richard Couch—and his father, Charles.

Those who follow Little League baseball around town know that last Sunday Richard turned in one of the most spectacular pitching performances in the history of local minor baseball.

Pitching for Britannia Legion in the Fairfield Little League, Richard faced a total of 18 batters and struck them all out.

It was a perfect game all the way, and the reverberations are still sounding. From the star hurler of the Fairfield loop, Richard suddenly became a city-wide sensation.

As for Richard himself, the composed 12-year-old looks around his expanded horizon, declares that he is "very pleased," and states that "it was the training that made it possible."

"Dad and I go out and practice in the back yard for half an hour or so every night. He's taught me a lot."

Those sessions could be the best investment Mr. Couch has ever made in baseball. With play-offs coming up, Mr. Couch, a coach of the team, has helped provide Britannia with a pitcher who has proved he is almost unbeatable on his good days.

Even if Richard couldn't pitch a strike, however, he would still be a valuable member of the team because he is definitely an all-around star.

He leads Britannia in batting with an average somewhere above the .500 mark.

PHYSICAL ADVANTAGE

An "average" fielder, Richard plays first or third base when he isn't pitching.

Richard admits he has an important advantage. With a five-foot-seven-inch frame, he is bigger than many of the other players.

The most amazing part about his success is that he has been playing for less than two seasons. Last year he only pitched about four games, although he gave an indication of things to come when he lost a no-hitter on a bunt single.

This year he has chalked up six of his team's 11 wins. Britannia, youngest team in the league, has not lost a game, which Richard feels is a credit to manager Doug Wheeler.

"He's very good," says Richard.

Right now the young pitcher's thoughts are concentrated on play-offs, which start less than a month from now. He seems a cinch to make his league's all-star team.

After that, like most 12-year-olds, he is a bit undecided. "I'd like to keep with baseball," he maintains. "Now that I've got that wildness licked, I hope I can keep on doing all right."

him out before he chews your arm off.

So far this season commercial fisherman H. J. White of Sardis, Miss., claims the record.

Last week White, Phillip Rikard and Sammy Durham poked along, the bottom of Tobey-Tubby Creek near Sardis until they found a submerged stump harboring two big catfish. One man blocked the mouth of the hideout while another shoved his hand into the nearest catfish mouth and was badly chewed for his trouble.

White took over and pulled out a 60-pound catfish. Female catfish lay their eggs in hollow, submerged logs, so the hunting is good. Confirmed grabbler John Phares, federal aid co-ordinator for the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, revealed there is a more timorous breed of grabbler who makes use of heavy canvas gloves or stevedore hooks.

"But those are South Mississippians he's talking about," said Barry Freeman, chief of the commission's fisheries division. "That's not the sporting element."

SOLARIUM DERBY

CENTURY CLUB

Sid Nex likes to spend many of his leisure hours fishing salmon, but he won't be doing much trolling in the next few weeks.

For Sid, like many other members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, is busy selling tickets to the VSIAA-Times Solarium Derby.

He has a special reason: "I've had a youngster in the Solarium twice," he says, "and this, I feel, is a good way to help the Solarium."

Sid has already helped them to the tune of over 100 tickets, qualifying quickly for membership in the derby's Century Club. And he hopes to sell many more before the event is staged on July 24.

It is the first time that he has worked with the derby committee, which has raised over $73,000 for the crippled children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium in past years.

He will be happy to sell you a ticket to the derby if you phone him at EV 2-8366. Tickets cost only $1, with all proceeds slated to go directly to the Solarium.

Fullmer Favored To Retain Crown

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The world middleweight title—National Boxing Association version—is the stake to tonight when champion Gene Fullmer of Utah tangles with challenger Carmen Basilio of New York.

The fight, a rematch of their brawl in San Francisco last Aug. 28, is scheduled for 15 rounds in Dicks Field.

(It will be televised in Victoria on Channel 4, starting at 7 p.m.)

Fullmer, at 28 a veteran of ring warfare since 1951, is favored at odds of about 12 to 5 in light betting here. He handed the gallant old Basilio, 33, his first knockout. Carmen was never counted out but the match was stopped in the 14th round, and under California rules it went as a kayo.

Will Reunion Prove Tonic For Victoria?

The rookies are back together and Victoria lacrosse buffs are hoping the reunion will be the tonic needed to start the Vics climbing up the Intercity Lacrosse League ladder.

Jackie Wilson, one of the brightest of the rookie stars who helped Victoria to the Western Canada final last year, steps back into action for the first time this season at Memorial Arena tonight.

And Wilson, who is getting a late start because of his studies at Denver University, will be operating on a forward line with Jim McNeill and Bob McKee, a pair of rookie stand-outs last season, in the tussle against front-running New Westminster.

Wilson, a hustling ball-hawk who could step up the tempo of the Victoria attack, is returning just when the Vics need player help in their bid to climb into contention for a playoff berth.

SEVERSON Sidelined

Whitely Severson, the club's play-making ace, is out of action with a broken bone in his hand and a shoulder injury, is forced to sit out at least one more game because of a pulled leg muscle.

Wilson will be taking Severson's place on the line with McKee and McNeill.

Unable to build up a winning streak after a slow start, the Vics are having trouble pulling close to third place as all their rivals keep avoiding losing skins.

TOUGHER FOR VICS

Tuesday night it was Vancouver that bolstered its play-off hopes, and made it tougher for Victoria, pinning a 9-7 defeat on Nanaimo at Kerrisdale Arena.

That moved Vancouver past the Hub City crew into second place and left the Vics trailing Nanaimo by six points. Last week it was Nanaimo that whipped New Westminster twice to stretch what had been a meagre two-point lead over Victoria into the six-point margin.

Vancouver made it Tuesday night as Nanaimo played without league scoring leader Jack Blonda. The Vancouver club enjoyed a big margin in play but Nanaimo stayed in the battle all the way on the fine netminding of veteran Fred Fulla.

Fulla made a total of 35 saves while Stan Joseph was stopping only 20 shots at the Vancouver goal.

Fred Usselman, with two goals, paced Vancouver. Don Ashbee chipped in with three goals and an assist for Nanaimo.

Junior Shamrocks increased their unbeaten streak to seven games as they scored an 8-3 Senior "B" Lacrosse League victory over Jokers at Stevenson Park Tuesday.

The Junior Rocks have won six games, and tied one.

Bill Good was top scorer for the winners with three goals. Others went to Al Fearon, Bob Jones, Bill Wilson, Ray Biggs and Bill Russell.

Dave Gale scored twice for Jokers while Sonny Vickery notched the third marker.

Hibben-Bone Trophy To Williams, Brookes

Road to Duncan 'A Disgrace' Says Dobson

(From Duncan Bureau)

Mayor J. T. Dobson told Duncan city council this week, Trunk Road, leading into the centre of Duncan from Trans-Canada Highway, is a disgrace to the city and should be paved out on the shoulders "even if we have to do it ourselves."

He said the city could present the bill to the provincial highways department after the job was done. "We'll do it and say 'Well, here's the bill and what are you going to do?'" Mayor Dobson said.

"We have a clean city but that Trunk Road—it's awful," Mayor Dobson said.

DUNCAN—Levi George, Duncan, was sentenced to six months in Oakalla Prison after being convicted Tuesday in Duncan police court of a charge of indecent assault. Magistrate D. K. McAdam said that in passing sentence he took into consideration the physical condition of the accused and his war record.

LAKE COWICHAN—Judy Stradlin, Lake Cowichan, who will enter Royal Jubilee School of Nursing in the fall, was presented with the Stanley Gordon Chapter IODE $100 bursary for a local student.

Attending the presentation were IODE provincial president Mrs. E. Duvernet of Vancouver; Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo, provincial organizing secretary, and Mrs. P. N. Gillingham, Duncan.

CHEMAMAINUS—Work has started on the 60 by 40-foot extension to Chemainus Firehall. Forms for the cement foundation and the steel reinforced concrete floor are now being laid. Contractor James Gordon said he expects to have the addition completed by the middle of September.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Herman Kaiser of Vancouver was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital here following an explosion aboard a seiner, at Stewart Island on Tuesday in which he suffered extensive burns. The explosion was followed by a fire aboard the fishboat which burned to the waterline and sank. A witness said the explosion occurred while Kaiser was starting the 35-foot vessel.

Mrs. S. J. Tino of Eugene, Ore., was reported in "fair" condition today at Royal Jubilee Hospital, where she is being treated for injuries suffered in a collision Tuesday eight miles south of Nanaimo. She was transferred from Nanaimo General Hospital. Also taken to the Nanaimo hospital, but released after treatment, were Mr. Tino and sons, Grey, 16, and Sammy, 10, and relatives, Mrs. Rose Ericson and her son, Robin, 6, of Lake Cowichan.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Mr. Tino collided with a truck which was making a left turn.

Three Vancouver Island postmasters were elected to office Tuesday at the annual meeting of the B.C. Postmasters' Association at Vernon. Les Hammer, Port Alberni, already president of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, was elected president and M. Gordie, Nanaimo, was elected representative for staff postmasters. Mrs. Gertie Cottle, Northfield, will represent revenue postmasters.

THEY PREFER SWIMMING

Algae Clearing Asked By Langford Residents

LANGFORD—Residents here voted Tuesday night to ask the recreation and conservation department to take necessary steps to clear the lake of algae and make it suitable for swimming. Vote was a decision on whether residents preferred swimming or fishing in the lake. David Hurn, fisheries biologist, said that once copper sulphate has been used to kill algae the treatment is required yearly, making restocking of the lake for fishing useless.

H. G. H. Watts, senior sanitary inspector for Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit, told the meeting of 150 persons in Langford Fire Hall that algae is not a menace to health and that bacteriologically the lake is in

'Dairy Queen' Title Sought By V.I. Girls

(From Duncan Bureau)

Girls from all parts of B.C., including one from Vancouver Island, will compete at the University of British Columbia for the title of "Miss Dairy Princess."

A preliminary contest to choose one Island girl will be held shortly, and tentative date for the UBC judging is July 8. Winner there will compete with other provincial princesses for the title of "Canada's Dairy Queen."

General appearance and personality will have a good deal to do with the success of the winner, but contestants also must prove their ability to prepare a cow for milking and to assemble a milking machine.

THREE ON ISLAND

Three Vancouver Island girls who will compete for the title are Clara Taylor, Saanich; Linda Winnig, Courtenay; and Dianne Maxwell, Cobble Hill.

Miss Taylor, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, is one of the leading 4-H members in the province, and last year was a guest at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. Linda Winnig, who also attended the fair, is an outstanding 4-H Club member in the Courtenay-Coxmoor area, and has been a consistent contest winner.

Miss Maxwell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Maxwell, now owns a Jersey cow and at one time cared for a registered Angus herd, is a 4-H Club member, and served both as president and as a junior leader.

Tree-Cut Wires Start Bush Fire

GANGES—Fire broke out on a land clearing project in the Central area of Salt Spring Island Tuesday afternoon when a felled tree dropped the wrong way and cut three high-tension power lines beside Ganges-Vesuvius Highway.

Short circuits from the severed cable ends started fires, and when workmen tried to call for help they found telephone wires also had been brought down.

Accident occurred on government land where highways department crews were clearing land for government storage sheds.

Since a powder storage building was near the site, one of the employees drove to Ganges for the island volunteer fire department.

The accident occurred at 4:15 p.m., and cut off power in the Vesuvius area for more than an hour.

Minister Upset About Holdup On Report Cards
VANCOUVER (CP)—Education Minister Peterson said Tuesday his department will instruct the Nanaimo and Vancouver school boards that it does not agree with their practice of withholding of students' report cards until they pay fines for damaged or overdue books.

"I am not in agreement with this practice," the minister said in an interview. "The school report is a report to the parents on the progress of the child. Monetary obligation should not have any bearing on the delivery of this report."

He was commenting on complaints from Nanaimo parents that schools were withholding report cards.

Gov't Asked To Remove Flood Threat

Lone Tree Holds River on Course

(From Duncan Bureau)

Provincial government will be asked by Duncan city council to remove the flood danger from the eastern boundary of the city, where a lone tree is preventing Cowichan River from reverting to an old channel where it could cause property damage.

Ald. J. H. Saunders brought the matter to council's attention this week.

GO RIGHT BACK

"If one thoughtless boy cut a certain tree down, the river would be right back in its old channel," he reported.

He said he had cut down several trees himself and blocked them up along the north bank of the river to hold the water back. He told how the river is working its way past the roots of a tree.

"One tree, just like a toothpick, is holding that river on its course," Ald. Saunders said.

REAL THREAT

City engineer R. E. Potter agreed the situation is a threat to the eastern area of the city.

"What we want now is that the river be kept in its present channel," Mr. Potter said.

Ald. Saunders said if a bulldozer could be brought in yearly to move gravel the problem could be solved.

Socred Says CCF Scares Investors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Education Minister Peterson says investors are frightened away from British Columbia because they fear the CCF may form a government.

He said at a public meeting investments declined around elections because investors fear the CCF, the official opposition, may become the government.

"I for one, certainly do not share this opinion."

He also said opposition parties increase unemployment by opposing private investment in B.C.

"Their continual criticism of people who want to invest their own money and participate in the development of this great province cannot help but discourage investors."

He said the percentage of 7.1 per cent of the working force 41,000 persons unemployed was far too high. The government was doing everything possible in the way of public works to provide jobs.

$1,000 Loss As Fire Hits Dairy Roof

An estimated $1,000 damage was caused to the roof of a Saanich dairy Tuesday afternoon before firemen brought the shingle blaze under control.

Power facilities at the farm, owned by Frank Burdge, 818 Beckwith, were interrupted for two hours but none of the 150 gallons of dairy products stored were damaged.

Saanich fire department was called by the driver of a truck outside the building while employees were searching for the blaze inside.

The fire was believed started by sparks from a nearby rubbish fire.

$200,000 Fire Razes Apple Packing Plant

(Compiled From CP)
KELOWNA — Fire, believed started from a cigarette butt thrown into a pile of debris 50 feet from the building, destroyed the Glenmore apple packing plant of the Cascade Co-Operative Associate Tuesday.

Loss will exceed $200,000 in the worst packinghouse fire since 1948 when the Kelowna Growers' Exchange went up in flames in a $186,000 fire.

No one was injured in the fire, discovered at 5:15 p.m. An hour later the entire structure was a mass of flames and firemen devoted their efforts to saving surrounding buildings.

Exploding ammonia bottles, used for the cold-storage compressing machine in the two-storey plant, scattered debris hundreds of feet in the air.

Power and telephone lines were toppled, leaving Glenmore, a municipality with 1,700 population on the eastern outskirts of Kelowna, without communication for some time.

Informer Rewarded

VANCOUVER—The Vancouver Police Commission Tuesday paid a $1,000 reward for information that helped police solve the 1956 murder of Chinese grocer Low Gum Chew.

Deputy Police Chief Gordon Ambrose said the sum, full reward offered in the case, went to a citizen of the Greater Vancouver area. The name will not be revealed, he said.

Bigamist Jailed

VANCOUVER—An immigrant carpenter was sentenced today to five months in jail on a charge of bigamy after Magistrate Oscar Orr rejected his story that he pretended to marry in Lithuania "to escape the Communists."

Stanley Dagilis told the magistrate Monday that he and a 14-year-old girl pretended to be married in 1941 so he could go with her to Germany and escape from Communism.

The magistrate said he had no hesitation in believing the woman's story that she and Dagilis were married in 1940 in a Roman Catholic Church in Lithuania. Dagilis went through a form of marriage with another woman in Vancouver in 1958.

Dr. Vingo Dies

NELSON — Dr. Joseph Vingo, 49, widely known in the Kootenays for his activities in hockey and with the Knights of Columbus, died here Tuesday night. He had been in ill health for a year.

Dr. Vingo, a dentist, was state deputy of the Knights of Columbus in B.C. in 1955. He was vice-president of the Western International Hockey League in 1953 and president for three years, and at the 1960 WIHL annual meeting, a trophy in his honor was set up.

Candidates Named

VANCOUVER — The B.C. Progressive Conservative party headquarters here announced today selection of candidates to fight in Columbia and Okanagan ridings in the next B.C. provincial general election.

Congo Not Ready For Independence

Paternalistic Rule by Belgians Cut Off Too Suddenly for Natives

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — In the head-long rush of African peoples toward self-government, nationhood for the Belgian Congo represents possibly the most breathtaking gamble of all.

Independence day is being awaited with apprehension and crossed fingers not only by Western nations, but by a majority of Congolese themselves.

In a country that still lacks a single African surgeon — as distinct from witch doctors — even the most nationalistic political leader may agree privately that independence is being bestowed before the Congo is ready for it.

"If we want independence, we must suffer for it," is a prevailing view among many of the 13,000,000 Africans who this week will shake off 50 years of paternalistic rule by Belgium.

The Congo, with a land area nearly three times that of British Columbia, came into being largely as the personal creation of King Leopold II of the Belgians, who saw its possibilities after the explorer H. M. Stanley reached the Congo mouth in 1877.

The Economist, an independent weekly magazine, says Belgium's record, despite considerable labors and successes, is "sadly destined to be written off in African history as the classic example of rapacious colonialism."

In an Africa aflame with nationalism, the Congo has long been regarded as one territory immune from such upstart ideas. As a result, the abrupt Belgian decision to transfer power came as a shock. It has been widely contended that the colonial administration, while providing welfare services, did little to prepare the people for self-rule.

Education is really just beginning. Black and white study side by side at Lovanium University just outside Leopoldville. Started six years ago, Lovanium has nearly 500 students of whom about two-thirds are African.

Among these students, the sense of a pathetic unreadiness to govern is perhaps most acute. They know their own limitations. In soft accents, often suggesting a greater familiarity with French than English, they give voice to two main fears. One is that a reversion to tribalism will jeopardize national unity; the other that personal ambition will prevent the new leaders from ruling in harmony.

ROBERT COOK
... mass-killer

TO BE HANGED

Cook Convicted Second Time

EDMONTON (CP) — Robert Raymond Cook, 23, the last living member of the ill-fated Raymond Cook family, of Stettler, Alta., was found guilty Tuesday and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of his father.

Ironically, it was exactly one year to the day since the bodies of the other seven members of the family were found.

Sunday morning, June 28, 1959, RCMP at Stettler, were led by odors to a covered grease pit in a garage adjoining the Cook home.

Beneath a covering of tires, chains, rims and other materials they discovered the seven bodies — the 53-year-old Cook, his wife, Daisy Mae, and three boys and two girls, aged three to nine years. Mrs. Cook was Robert's step-mother, the children his step-brothers and step-sisters.

The parents had been shot. The children were bludgeoned so badly all but one were unrecognizable.

The husky Robert Cook, an auto mechanic like his father, was charged with the murder of Raymond Cook.

HAD APPEALED

Tuesday was the second time the accused Cook had the death penalty pronounced on him. The first was at a Red Deer, Alta. trial last December. An appeal to the Alberta Supreme Court resulted in a new trial.

Date for Cook's hanging was set at Oct. 11 by Mr. Justice H. W. Riley. It took the six-man Alberta Supreme Court jury just 30 minutes to bring in a verdict.

The crowd gasped. But Cook did not move a muscle.

The family was killed three days after Cook was released from Prince Albert penitentiary.

Stettler RCMP first picked up Cook Saturday night, June 27, when he was driving around town in a flashy new convertible, and held him on a charge of false pretences in connection with the automobile transaction.

After the killing, the accused Cook escaped from the mental hospital at Ponoka, Alta. Police, soldiers and civilians combed central Alberta for four days — the largest manhunt in the history of the province — before they captured him.

YOUTH, 17, TO DIE FOR KILLINGS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dennis Whitney, 17-year-old confessed killer of seven persons, Tuesday became the youngest white person in Florida history to face the electric chair.

Eleven men and one woman returned a unanimous verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against the red-haired boy from North Hollywood, Calif., in the death of Arthur Keeler, a Miami service station attendant.

Then, the circuit court jury voted 10 to 2 against recommending mercy.

Whitney had confessed to killings in California, Arizona and Miami, usually without provocation, and added that "I just don't give a damn."

U.S. Prestige 'Hit New Low After U-2'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen. William Fulbright said Tuesday U.S. prestige has reached a new low as a result of "bumbling and fumbling" in the U-2 spy plane incident.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, told the Senate the U-2 incident and U.S. handling of it "were the immediate cause of the collapse" at the summit. He said it "was a serious error of judgment" to order the flight. The administration's own testimony, Fulbright said, raised doubt whether the information sought was as important as represented.

"There is ground here for the conclusion that the alleged extraordinary importance of this information is the administration's cover story for its own costly mistake," Fulbright said.

He spoke after the Senate got a more moderate report approved by a majority of his committee.

City Jaycees Named Best In Canada

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce did itself proud at the national convention in Saskatoon which winds up today.

The club walked off with the title of "Outstanding Jaycee Club of Canada" and took ribbons in nine other contests, battling a high 667 percent age after entering 15 contests.

It was chosen as the outstanding club on the basis of its community work and leadership training.

$300 AWARD

Club committees won first place in competitions for: Government and civic affairs, civic beautification and social welfare; second place for leadership training, community betterment, agriculture and traffic safety. The latter prize included a $300 award to the club.

The Victoria club also won honorable mention for its public relations and international projects, the latter involving its recent clothing drive for Hong Kong refugees.

The club also was hoping for one last distinction: Election of its immediate past president, Ray Rawnsley as national vice-president in the elections which were to complete the convention later today.

Magistrate Retires

VANCOUVER — Magistrate Walter H. C. Firkins passed his last sentence Tuesday, then set out to serve it — a life sentence to "just simply pass the time" and maybe play a little golf now and then.

The white-haired 75-year-old magistrate, appointed to the bench in 1950 after retiring as police court clerk, retired Tuesday.

Look, no hands! Harry Gregson demonstrates his "relax-a-mower."

THIS COULD START CIRCULAR LAWN FAD!

You Unwind as Mower Winds Up

By HAL JONES

A simple but effective idea perfected by Oak Bay newspaperman Harry H. Gregson, 2160 Beach Drive, will be adopted in the near future, no doubt, by countless unenthusiastic gardeners.

Mr. Gregson's invention permits you to sit back on a warm day with a long cool drink and watch your lawn cut in a smooth, effortless manner—without having to hire a gardener.

IT'S SIMPLE

When the motor is started, the mower moves around in a circle and eventually winds itself around the central peg. By reversing the mower's direction it then proceeds to unwind itself and then re-wind itself.

"I stumbled across the idea about four weeks ago when I was experimenting in controlling the mower while holding a rope," Mr. Gregson said.

He wrote to Atco mower manufacturers in England but was told several adaptations of the idea were already on the market.

The gadget itself was made overnight by William George, well known local woodworker of 485 Garbally, and can be made commercially—for as little as $750.

Your lawn, however, must be reasonably flat and obstacle-free. You can't expect the mower to guide itself round bushes and trees.

If you want perfect results it is better to have a circular lawn, but if, like most people, your lawn is square or rectangular you will have to deal with the corners as best you can.

Budget 'Upset' Feared by City

Water Hike Delay Would Cut Revenue

By JOHN MIKA

City Hall officials are becoming alarmed that this year's budget may be "thrown for a loop" by a delay in approval of increased retail rates for water.

Victoria has applied to the Public Utilities Commission to raise the rates in Esquimalt and this year's budget is based on obtaining the approval during July.

If it doesn't come, the city faces losses of up to $123,000 this year on its water utility—which amounts to 1 1/2% of a mill.

The city completed its formal application for the increase April 27.

"We received an acknowledgment from the PUC the following day but since then we have not heard a word," said one city official.

NO DECISION

A PUC spokesman said no decision has been made yet whether or not there will be a hearing held on an Esquimalt council protest against the proposed increase.

"It's a very serious thing for the city," said another City Hall official. "It could mean a deficit at the end of the year or curtailment of expenditures."

"If the decision is delayed by one month after July, it could cost us $30,000 to $40,000 in revenue and if we can't make any increase this year it means a loss of $123,000 on our budgeted revenue."

WHOLESALE PRICE

The situation began with a Greater Victoria water board increase in its wholesale price on water supplied to the various municipalities.

Saanich and Oak Bay councils boosted retail rates to their consumers to take care of the 30 per cent wholesale increase.

Victoria also drew up a by-law for boosts in the retail prices to Victorians and to consumers in Esquimalt where the city also owns the distribution system.

But due to a legal technicality—supplying water to an outside municipality—the city had to obtain approval for its new rates in Esquimalt from the PUC like any privately owned utility.

PAID MORE

Meanwhile, the wholesale rates went into effect as of Jan. 1 and the city, so far, has paid out $35,000 more for water this year than for the first half of 1959.

But it has not been able to raise the retail rates to offset the increased cost because the PUC hasn't approved the application yet.

City officials, knowing it would take some time to obtain approval, budgeted for a retail increase later in the year. So, present higher costs for wholesale water have not upset the budget.

But if the approval isn't obtained by July, the revenue loss will start eating into the council's budget for 1960.

University Planners Selected

University of Victoria council today appointed a "university development board" to supervise, plan and guide its building program over the next five years.

Chairman is R. B. Wilson, top man in the university's drive for $2,500,000.

Vice-chairman is Professor Hugh Parquhar, executive assistant to Principal Harry Hickman.

STUDENT REP

A member of the student council and one from the alumni will be appointed later.

Appointed as salaried member is Floyd A. Fairclough of Vancouver, who is assisting in the fund drive. He also took an active part in the Royal Jubilee Hospital fund campaign last year. He will take over his new duties on Sept. 1.

Mr. Ireland, vice-chairman of Victoria University Council, announced the new board following a meeting Tuesday of the council and Victoria business men.

The offices of the board will be opened on the university campus late this summer.

The board will integrate the total building project, allocate funds for each building and determine their location on the Lansdowne and Gordon Head campuses.

NEXT YEAR

They will include a science building and library scheduled to be under construction next year, a power plant and a student union building.

Mr. Ireland said the science building will be on the "drawing board" in a few months and construction will start next spring.

Construction of the library will follow on the heels of the science building.

The board, he said, will also carry on the duties of the campaign committee which will be disbanded at the end of July.

Mr. Ireland said the campaign committee has raised a total of $1,874,000 towards its $2,500,000 objective.

He is confident when the campaign committee completes its mopping up operation next month, and the new board starts seeking new sources for gifts and revenue, there will be sufficient money on hand to complete the expansion project.

Oldest Native Daughter Dies at 96

Mrs. Emily Elizabeth Stephenson, 309 Linden Avenue, believed to be Victoria's oldest native daughter, died here today at the age of 96.

A widow of the late Rev. F. L. Stephenson, she was an active member of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and the women's auxiliary of Christ Church Cathedral.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. G. Aileen Mills, Winnipeg, Mrs. Gwyneth C. Ashby, Victoria, Mrs. H. S. Mollie McLeod, Vancouver; one son, Col. Daryl C. Stephenson, Victoria; several grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Dunne of Duncan.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Haywards, funeral directors.

Chant Pushes Foul Bay Road Improvements

Capital Improvement District Commission is studying reconstruction of Foul Bay Road from the waterfront to the Mount Tolmie campus of the University of Victoria, with the support of Works Minister W. N. Chant.

If the plan goes through, the government likely will pay much of the cost.

"As an MLA for Victoria, I think it should be done," Mr. Chant said.

Forming a boundary between Oak Bay on the east and Victoria and Saanich on the west, the road has long been neglected, Mr. Chant said.

It has become prominent in recent months because of its position in respect to expansion plans at the university, and in some quarters it has been recommended that it be renamed "University Drive." Mr. Chant is one of those in favor of the name change.

27-Month Term For Club Attack

Gunnar Jacobsen, 30, of Victoria, today was sentenced to 27 months in the B.C. Penitentiary for breaking into a Chinese club at Port Alberni and attacking the manager.

The unemployed laborer broke into the Tin Yin Club June 16, attacked the sleeping manager, Lee Fung, tied him in his bed, and gagged him with adhesive tape.

A MISTAKE

When Jacobsen was asked by Magistrate William McLeod in Port Alberni police court what he had to say before sentence was passed, he replied "It's been a mistake, but I can't take back what I've done. It's too late."

"He's lucky he's not up on a murder charge," said Crown prosecutor Ed Dinsmore. "The tape was so tightly bound around Lee's face he would have suffocated in another two minutes."

Dinsmore said Jacobsen was being "most unco-operative" with police by refusing to divulge the name of an accomplice.

$7,500 BAIL

Jacobsen was captured by police as he tried to escape through a rear door of the club, but a second man escaped by running across rooftops of adjacent buildings.

David Wong, about 30, also of Victoria, has been charged in connection with the offence, and is free on bail of $7,500.

No plea has been taken, and he will appear for trial July 13.

Hotelman Pays Fine For Selling 'Brew'

Keeping a large quantity of home-made beer for sale today brought a $300 fine to Harold Stanley Holben, 1312 Government, in city police court.

Police said the manager of the New England Hotel sold a dozen bottles of the "brew" to a constable in plain clothes June 26.

Later city police and RCMP moved in and seized a large quantity of beer and equipment for making it.

Included were 360 pints, 28 quarts, 620 empty pints, 74 empty quarts, five pounds of sugar, a six-foot length of hose and a box of bottle caps.

OTHER CHARGES

At this point Magistrate William Ostler halted the evidence, saying he wanted to keep an open mind pending the possible laying of other charges.

Police also said that the ac-

MONTE ROBERTS

Isn't it wonderful, the way people are going around the streets these days.

I mean, isn't it wonderful, the way people are going around the streets, and smiling at each other, and saying "Isn't it wonderful, this wonderful weather we're having."

That's what I like about the natives of this, the fairest City of them all.

Give them 30 minutes of sunshine and a gentle breeze, and they will forget all about six weeks of clouds, gales, colds-in-the-head and even—you should forgive the expression—rain.

The natives of this city are proud of their weather, and loyal to it, as well.

When the weather is not quite perfect, they ignore it. When the weather is perfect, their boasting can be heard unto the far reaches of St. Vital, Manitoba and Truro, Nova Scotia.

This applies to nearly ALL the natives of this city, including the natives who arrived here yesterday from said St. Vital or Truro.

It is a well-known fact that less than 24 hours is required to make a native son of anyone arriving here from anywhere, with the possible exception of Vancouver.

People from Vancouver are so atrophied by constant exposure to smog, fog, and fog, they are apt to be insensible even to the charming appeal of this city.

Everyone else, though, as noted above, quickly becomes a native and just as quickly looks around for an excuse to say how wonderful the weather is, and did you know it was 30 below at Portage la Prairie?

In fact, this seems to apply even to tourists just passing through.

The other week, during one of our not-quite-perfect weather periods, I encountered a visitor from California, seated on one of the benches on Holland Point. Despite the fact the bench was protected from the wind, the gentleman was shivering visibly.

"Find it chilly?" I asked.

"No, no," he said. "Not at all. Wonderful weather, this, bracing."

"However," he said, "for really wonderful weather, you should be here in September. Or even October. Really wonderful weather then."

"You've been here before?" I asked.

"No," said the Californian, "but I'm sure the weather is really wonderful here. Especially in September."

I tell you, it's really wonderful to hear all the wonderful people telling each other about the wonderful weather we're having.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have two water colors signed E. Shrapnel, ARCA. Any information you can give me regarding this artist would be greatly appreciated. G.N.

A. Edward Shrapnel, a pupil of the renowned Sir Edwin Landseer, died here in 1920. He had painted in England and in Canada, mostly in B.C. He came to Victoria in 1889 when he formed the first art club of the province. With the exception of painting a portrait of his grandfather, Henry Shrapnel, after whom the shrapnel shell got its name, he confined his work to landscapes and paintings of animals. A daughter, Miss Gladys Shrapnel, still lives in Victoria.

Reduce Laundry Costs With New Local Product

By PENNY SAVER

Two local men who became tired of hearing their wives complain about high prices of household soaps through fancy packaging have decided to do something about it. A couple of months ago they went into business here and now there's a new soap on the market. In the short time the new firm has been in business, many housewives have become extremely enthusiastic about this local product.

Soap is packaged in plastic bags to keep price as low as possible and is completely free of detergent. There are two sizes available. One, priced at 39 cents, contains 1½ pounds, while the other, selling for 79 cents, contains three pounds three ounces of soap granules. These can be used in any washing machine.

Teenage daughters and their mothers will appreciate beauty of new beach towels that sell at $3.95. These are large, 36 inches by 69 inches, and fluffy-towel-like is decorated with artistic designs and scenes, all signed by the artist. Included in the selection are majestic polar bears atop realistic icebergs, colorful Hawaiian scenes and futuristic sunspot designs.

If your daughter has been hinting that she'd love a new bag in which to carry her beach accessories, you really should take a look at terry towelling bags I saw in one downtown store this week.

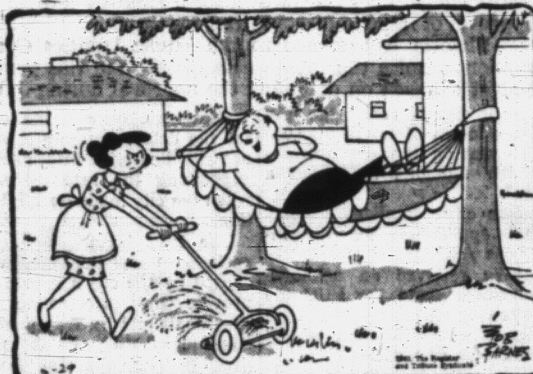

They are lined in plastic and have draw cords that are finished with large fluffy pompons. Once again, bags are distinctly designed. One design, named "Eskimo Pie," is bright with a large, cheery Eskimo, while another, called "Rubberneck," shows a proud African woman, resplendent with neck ornaments. Bags, priced at $2.95, measure 22 inches by 12 inches. There are many other designs from which to choose.

At the same price are smaller bags that measure 18 inches square. These, too, are plastic lined with draw strings and pompons and designs that are unusually attractive. Included are orchids and other flowers, Japanese scenes and a novel face of a mid-20's beauty.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY

He's Got Problems, All Right!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 37-year-old married man who goes out in the garden or down in the basement to sneak a smoke when his parents are visiting? His father disapproves of tobacco and doesn't know that his son has been smoking ever since we were married, 12 years ago. I keep telling my husband to think it's the silliest thing I have ever heard of.

Don't you think if a grown man wants to smoke he should be man enough to smoke in front of his father?

SMOKER'S WIFE: Your husband's behavior is childish. But it's HIS father and HIS decision. A 37-year-old man who has to sneak his smokes has plenty of problems without a wife heckling him. Lay off.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend of whom I think a great deal. But she has a nasty little habit which I'd like to tell her about, but can't. When playing cards, she will lick her fingers before every card she thinks of a 37-year-old married man who goes out in the garden or down in the basement to sneak a smoke when his parents are visiting. His father disapproves of tobacco and doesn't know that his son has been smoking ever since we were married, 12 years ago. I keep telling my husband to think it's the silliest thing I have ever heard of.

DEAR DO GOODER: Continue to take the children, but there's no sense in "burning." The kind of parents who would consistently send their children to church with the neighbors are not likely to go to church themselves just to get their children there.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager," is on sale at all bookstores.

Gifts for Stockings Needed by September

TORONTO (CP)—Christmas shopping time comes early for the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

One of its projects is to fill Christmas stockings for Korean orphans and contributions must reach the Toronto headquarters by the first week of September in order to reach their overseas destination in time for Christmas.

Last year 125 red felt stockings filled with toys and other gifts were distributed to orphans in Korea. This year the Toronto committee hopes to enlarge the project, expanding it to include youngsters in Greece and Italy.

"Now that people are going off on their holidays, we're hoping they'll look for souvenirs of Canada which could be tucked into the stockings," said committee member, Mrs. O. K. Schenk.

She's hoping for a flood of contributions to the fund's clothing depot at 64 Wellington Street West in Toronto.

Save the Children Fund was founded by an English woman, Eglantyne Jebb, in 1919 to help child victims of war, famine and poverty. A Canadian committee to the British fund was formed in 1921 and the Canadian organization was established in 1947.

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's only woman cabinet minister said Monday night she does not consider herself a champion and crusader in the cause of feminism.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough told the Zonta International convention. "... It is a great mistake to look upon women's participation in business, the professions or government as being in some way connected with the 'battle of the sexes'." Women, Mrs. Fairclough said, must keep their sense of feminism in perspective.

Salad Days Here Again

If you're looking for cooling meals for summer, "salad days" ahead. Look no further. Orange Crown Mold can either be the main attraction or the zesty molded salad to go along with the main dish.

Oranges lend their flavorful tang to this mold in the form of orange juice and orange pieces along with sour cream, salad dressing, black olives and seasonings. A quick meal might include pineapple juice cocktails with a lemon quarter, breaded fish sticks, Orange Crown Mold, hot rolls and desserts.

With oranges so plentiful right now, you'll find it a thrifty practice to serve this fruit often. Especially since it is the best way to insure the vitamin C that is needed daily for good health.

ORANGE CROWN MOLD
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup fresh orange juice, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 1/2 cups orange pieces (3 medium), 1 cup salad dressing, 1 cup commercially soured cream, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1/2 cup sliced black olives, Salad greens, orange slices, black olives for garnish.

LUNG CANCER IN WOMEN MAY INCREASE

TORONTO (CP) — There may be an increase in the number of lung cancer deaths among women who have been smoking for 20 years or more, Dr. H. M. Taylor, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society, said Sunday night.

He said exposure to smoking and other irritants over a score of years may lift the incidence of lung cancer in women parallel to that in men.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

On Small Budget, Buy Wisely for Best Nutrition

The high cost of food makes careful planning, nutrition-wise, even more important. If you have a lot of money to spend on food, you are more likely to get the essentials of nutrition simply because of the greater variety you eat. This is not necessarily true but is apt to be the case.

The smaller Josephine your food budget, the more crucial it is to learn about nutrition so that you spend what funds you have on vital foods. You cannot afford "empty" calories, or those which give you calories only and no health values.

It is poor economy to skimp on essentials since malnutrition can lead to chronic fatigue, inferior accomplishment, unhappiness, premature aging and expensive doctor bills.

First we must have protein in our diet (meat, cheese, milk, eggs, fish, and poultry are the main sources). Proteins are composed of amino acids, eight of which we must get from our diet. All eight are found in the foods just named. Proteins are used for body repair and growth.

Everyone requires some protein every day but the need varies with age and size. For instance, a teen-age boy should have about 100 grams a day while a man of average size should have 70 and a woman around 60.

We must have some fat in the diet but the average diet usually contains too much rather than too little. However, fat should not be completely cut out of the diet.

The carbohydrates (starches and sugar) supply us with energy and are important in the oxidation of fat and some give us vitamins and minerals. These should be a part of every day's planning.

We must have vitamins and minerals but with a well-balanced diet which includes proteins, carbohydrates, fresh vegetables and fruits (including citrus fruits and fruit juice) and some fat.

When planning your meals remember the dietitians plan of grouping all foods under four headings. These are the Milk group, the Meat group, the Vegetable group and the Bread and Cereal group. Besides these, of course, there are many other foods which add calories and make the meals more appetizing.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Menus for Career Girls," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 46 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

The little known but much appreciated "SOCIETY OF WOMEN WITH IMPECCABLE TASTE IN SWIM SUITS" is holding a membership drive. This drive usually begins in the Swim Suit Department of SCURRAH'S and comes to a conclusion near the end of the summer at every watering place from here to NASSAU. It's easy to join. This is what you do. Drop into SCURRAH'S during the next few days and purchase a new swim suit. Choose your style from Jantzen, Catalina or Rose-Marie Reid, your size from 10 to 44 and your price range from $9.95 to $29.95. Then, make your appearance at the lake, on the beach or in the relative privacy of your sundeck. It won't be very long before you realize that you are a member of the S.O.W.W.I.T.I.S.S. You will be happy you joined.

HOTELMAN RETIRED BUT 'IT DIDN'T TAKE'

He'll Try Southern Style After Successes in North

A hotelman who made his reputation in the north of Canada's north has invested $100,000 in Victoria to prove he can do it again in Canada's south.

Victor Ingraham, 61, has his stake tied up in the Ingraham Hotel, the city's newest hotel, which opened Tuesday on the east side of Douglas at Burnside.

The new hotel is, as the phrase goes, fully licensed, with a large tavern, lounge, licence, and dining room licence.

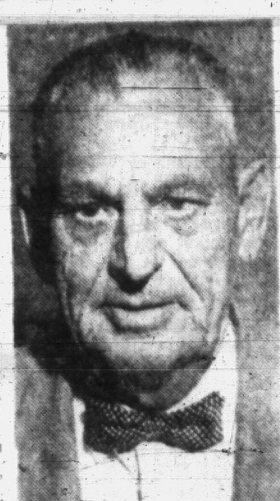

Since construction began last December, Mr. Ingraham, a gruff, bluff and genial man, has been supervising every phase. As he puts it, "we're retired twice, but it didn't take."

He invariably uses "we," instead of "I," in referring to his enterprises. The "we" would mean his wife and two children.

NO STUFFED SHIRTS

For the past 25 years, Mr. Ingraham has built and operated hotels in various parts of Canada's burgeoning north country. Perhaps the most notable was the Ingraham Hotel at Yellowknife, the uranium centre 700 miles north of Edmonton.

He won a place in the north in the man's-man tradition—the courage, a helping hand for those who need it, no time for "stuffed shirts."

VICTOR INGRAHAM

He once put it this way: "In the old hotel we had one rule: We'd never throw out a prospector with a packback to make room for a guy with a briefcase."

Vic, as he has become known, ran away from home at age 14, and first made a living breaking horses in Texas. Then he rode as a "boomer" with various U.S. railroads, and joined the American Expeditionary Force artillery in the First World War. He wound up with the White Russian army in Siberia.

After a continued stint with the army, in the Philippines, and discharge in the U.S., he went to Calgary to see his people. Then he drifted north, to haul mail by horse and sleigh between Fort McMurray and Fort Fitzgerald.

In October and November of 1933 Mr. Ingraham became an epic figure of courage.

EXPLODED

Mr. Ingraham and a companion escaped from the burning craft by lifeboat. The Speed exploded when they were 100 yards away.

They drifted two days, then walked 22 miles over barren, mountainous country. They suffered burns and frostbite.

DISHWASHER Raimundo

Perez Hernandez, 35, told Chicago police Tuesday he fatally stabbed his common-law wife, her husband, and the woman's three children because he was ashamed when she left him for another man.

Fumes Kill 6 in Well

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Six men died within a few minutes in a fume-filled well in the village of Sismo Tuesday.

Farmer Jose Marques had gone down a 40-foot well to repair a stopped pump. He was overcome by gas fumes. Five others who went down to his aid were also overcome. They were taken to hospital but died.

Despite his lack of legs, he has driven cars, trucks and caterpillar tractors.

His advice to innumerable friends belies his own activities. It's "take it easy."

KHRUSHCHEV'S DILEMMA:

Creeping Capitalism

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(Third of Series)

NEW YORK (AP)—In a corner of the enormous, sprawling building of GUM, Moscow's central department store facing Red Square and the gloomy Lenin-Stalin tomb, a sign advertises items that can be bought on installments.

These include photography equipment, motor bikes, electric sewing machines, refrigerators, other high-priced goods.

The ordinary Russian would have to save his money for a long time in order to be able to pay cash. Now all he has to do is to bring a statement signed by his superior, testifying to his employment and income. Deductions will be made from his wages. The stores all are operated by the government.

This is only one of the multiplying manifestations of what may be a burgeoning Soviet problem: What to do about creeping capitalism? Capitalist methods edge into the Soviet internal trade picture for a variety of reasons.

STORES CLOGGED

Extremely high-priced hard goods normally move slowly, since they are out of range of most Soviet pockets. Every day items such as clothing, shoes and appliances are all most invariably shoddy. The shelves of the stores are becoming clogged.

Store managers begin to complain and even balk about accepting shipments of shabby consumer goods from factories. The prospective buyers are showing sales resistance, and such goods collect dust for months. The consumer often hoards his rubles to compete for better—and thus scarcer—items.

Installment selling, credit, more and more advertising, store windows blossoming with special sales announcements and slashed list prices and neon signs, flickering over Moscow proclaim the virtues of a variety of products.

In some consumer categories there is a glut of goods. But factory managers fulfill their quotas by quantity, without giving much of a hoot about quality.

"BARGAIN" ITEM

A suit of men's clothing that couldn't fetch $20 in an American bargain basement goes into the Soviet stores priced at the equivalent of $140, or two months' pay for the average Soviet worker.

Cotton dresses no American woman would want to wear in public retail at the equivalent of $10 to $20. A pair of sandals is priced at $28. A crudely fashioned men's shirt costs $11.

Those who have money and there are many highly-paid Soviet people—resist such things. Many wait for shipments from abroad—perhaps from Communist Czechoslovakia, which is years ahead of the U.S.S.R. in quality consumer goods. Muscovites tip one another off when shipments reach the stores, and rubles come out of hiding. Foreign shipments are snapped up quickly, while Russian manufactures go begging.

Premier Khrushchev has tried to follow a line of persuasion, rather than coercion, in keeping the Soviet public in line. But persuasion implies incentives and rewards.

The Soviet premier soon may be, if he is not now, in an unenviable position so far as his popularity is concerned. The process of social change that has been going on for years in the Soviet Union has been building something similar to a middle class—sober, intelligent and eager to better itself. Khrushchev, in spite of himself, may be forced to try to halt the process.

VICTORIA'S POLICEMEN OVER-TRAINED?

City police commission Tuesday was amazed by the police department's monthly report.

One of the statistical comparisons showed stolen property reported to police during May totalled $4,204 while police recovered stolen property worth $20,823.

"I should say that includes a $19,000 boat that was found here," Chief John Blackstock hastily explained.

Commissioners approved expenditure of $500 to send four pistol-marksmen to compete in each of the Seattle Police Department and Vancouver Police Department revolver shoots this summer.

The Victoria department holds its annual shoot next week.

Restrictions Lifted

NEW YORK (AP)—All restrictions on travel between the United States and Romania have been lifted, the Romanian national travel office says. The agency announced the action at a press conference Tuesday and said it was the first by an Iron Curtain country since the war.

HOW CAN POOR TONY FILL TIME

Lovely Wife, Money, He's Bored

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret's husband last week got first taste of what it's like to be unemployed and have a working wife.

Anthony Armstrong-Jones was left at home while Margaret attended her first public engagement since their marriage—the opening of a new school in Stamford, north-eastern England.

The engagement, only a week after the end of their six-week Caribbean honeymoon, was the first of a long list of royal duties Margaret will perform this summer—most of them alone.

Armstrong-Jones is not scheduled to share a public engagement with his wife until July 21, when they will attend the jubilee festival of the Girl Guides.

The 30-year-old commoner who gave up an active career as a professional photographer now finds himself with time on his hands.

Unlike other husbands, he can't putter around his new London home because all the renovations have been done by the ministry of works.

If Armstrong-Jones has any idea what his new profession will be, he has given no indication.

A recent rumor he would become a stockbroker was officially squelched and his former profession of photography seems out of the question because it involves the dreaded taint of commercialism.

Russians 'Leap-Frog' West in Automation

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Western experts say they are flabbergasted by Soviet achievements in automation.

"They will really get way ahead unless we buckle down to work," said one British authority attending the first International Congress on Automation in Moscow.

The British visitors said the Russians had used a "leap frog technique"—skipping intermediate steps the West had to make—in their development of automatic devices for computation and control systems in industry.

"They sat down to think for five or six years and now the result of this thought is beginning to pay off," said one visitor.

ONLY MIT COMES CLOSE

The consensus of Westerners after a tour of the Soviet Institute of Automation and Telemechanics was that it was far ahead of anything in the West, with only the Massachusetts Institute of Technology remotely approaching the standards of the Russian institute.

"We've been a bit shattered," said one Western delegate to the congress. "We never dreamed this level had been reached."

What called forth the panegyrics are Russian self-optimizing systems, now in production, and pneumatic computing instruments, neither of which, the experts said, have been achieved in the West.

The first of these is basically a self-correcting control system which automatically seeks the optimum level. The Russians are using it to control temperatures in steel mills and also to keep power in radio transmitters at the most efficient level.

The pneumatic computers were as moving, parts and there are more reliable than the electronic devices used in the West. They also can be safely used in such places as chemical plants where electronic controls would be hazardous.

Troops to Work

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union will put 1,200,000 demobilized troops to work on coal fields, steel mills, construction sites, new railroads and farms all over the Soviet Union, the newspaper Sovetskaya Russia said Tuesday.

BOMARC BASES ASSURED FOR CANADA BY U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House of Representatives committee Tuesday agreed to provide $244,000,000 for Bomarc-B production, down $125,000,000 from what the Senate had proposed.

This compromise in the anti-aircraft missile between the House and Senate assures that Canada will get her two Bomarc-B squadrons although the number of bases in the United States may be reduced.

Nomination Recount Puts MLA In Again

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Social Credit party in suburban Delta riding Monday night rejected the bid of one of its legislative representatives for renomination but the second was defeated renominated after a recount of ballots.

George Massey was defeated in the first ballot in his effort to gain the party's endorsement to defend his legislative seat but Dr. Gordon Gibson was renominated on the recount.

It was at first declared that Dr. Gibson also had been defeated, but the recount was ordered when it was discovered that votes of five women's auxiliary delegates had been overlooked.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Heavy damage was caused Monday at 5:25 p.m. when two cars collided at the intersection of Kings and Blanshard.

Many members of the Dickens Fellowship who will attend the group's garden party Saturday will be clad in period costumes.

The garden party will be held at the home of the president, E. F. Waterspoon, 565 Merryfield, starting at 2 p.m.

Rebrin Hearing Near End But Long Wait for Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP) — Immigration department counsel to F.A. Sheppard, may not come until September because the court recesses Thursday for charges that Irene Rebrin was the summer.

Miss Rebrin, 33-year-old University of British Columbia lecturer, is appealing a Supreme Court decision upholding a deportation order issued in January, 1959.

Dr. Shumatcher charged on Tuesday that Immigration Minister Fairclough violated the principles of natural justice by considering new evidence after Miss Rebrin appealed her deportation to the department.

The court adjourned Tuesday after Dr. M. C. Shumatcher, of Regina, completed two days of argument on behalf of Miss Rebrin.

A decision by the three appeal judges — Chief Justice A. C. Desbrisay, Mr. Justice J. M. Coady and Mr. Justice

White Russian parents was ordered deported in January, 1959, as a stateless person who did not qualify for entry as an immigrant. After dismissing her appeal a year later, Mrs. Fairclough told the House of Commons she was a security risk.

Dr. Shumatcher said Mrs. Fairclough should be compelled to produce either the documents on which she based this statement or a statement certifying they are privileged and stating her reasons for refusing to produce them.

Dr. Shumatcher said that Miss Rebrin is suing the Telegram for libel, alleging of the charge that she was a security risk had it not been in character and reputation because of the story.

IRENE REBRIN free on bail

Navy to Rescue Of U.K. Trawler

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Navy Tuesday night freed a British trawler boarded by Icelandic coastguards who claimed it was fishing within Iceland's disputed 12-mile limit.

The 677-ton Grimshy trawler Northern Queen was one mile outside the fishing limits when it ran into trouble.

Fourteen Icelanders from the gunboat Thor swarmed aboard to take charge of the British vessel.

But skipper Wally Nutton managed to get out a radio call for help and the British fishery protection frigate Duncan steamed to the rescue.

The Duncan put a naval party aboard the Northern

WOULDN'T BUDGE

The Icelanders refused to budge until fresh orders came through from the Thor. Then they agreed to leave "under protest." They took to their boat and rowed back to the gunboat. The trawler then resumed fishing.

"We heard no reports of any fighting aboard the trawler which we understand was well outside the 12-mile limit," an admiralty spokesman said.

When the Geneva Law of the Sea Conference failed last April to settle the dispute, the British trawlers federation agreed to keep its ships outside the 12-mile limit for three months to allow for further negotiations.

Every year thousands of Canadians profit by Chevrolet's truckmaking experience

Chevrolet engineers' sole aim is to build the best trucks a truck man's money can buy. From the initial blueprint right through to the gruelling tests at the proving grounds, every Chevrolet truck brings you the results of unparalleled advances and research from Canada's largest truck organization. The best power plants, the best engineering, the best ride, the best economy... these are just some of the reasons why Chevrolet has proved to be the truck man's soundest investment, year after profitable year. Why don't YOU profit from Chevrolet's experience? Your Chevrolet dealer will quickly show you how.

...and here's PROOF!

Having been in the trucking business for the past sixteen years, we have had trucks of many makes and models. Five years ago, we purchased our first Chevrolet for back roads where the going was heavy. It was never out of service or had a major overhaul in 75,000 miles of mud and snow.

Each year you have improved the quality of your product, and this year the new 1960 trucks have surpassed everything in driver comfort, economy and looks.

W. J. Lewis,
Regina, Saskatchewan.

We recently added two new 1960 Chevrolet Dump trucks to our fleet. We are very pleased with the new front end suspension on these vehicles... and for their riding qualities and ruggedness. The appearance of these new Chevrolet trucks is very complementary to our business.

I. Lopatin,
Construction (Windsor) Limited
Windsor, Ontario.

The first week of November 1959, we added 3 new 1960 Chevrolet trucks to our fleet. We are more than satisfied with the performance of these trucks. Our operating costs have dropped considerably since putting these units into service. Our salesmen report much less fatigue due to the brand new torsion bar front suspension. With the new types of suspension both front and rear, we notice less load shifting, in turn this means less breakage to us which is very important to our operation.

C. L. Balmer,
Blackwoods Beverages Limited
Brandon, Manitoba.

We feel our purchase of series 80 Chevrolet trucks for our particularly tough operations is being fully justified. We recently bought three of them to haul sand and gravel over rough back roads, and they are showing a tremendous ability for work. Our drivers report they simply float over the bumps, allowing for faster running without damage to the truck or shaking up the driver. Naturally this means more trips per day. Economy, of course, is of utmost importance and we are happy with the result we are getting. Another great feature is the added safety of this year's brakes. They give you sure stops under all conditions. All in all, we think Chevrolet was a very wise choice.

IF YOU DRINK, DRIVE BUT WAIT FOR METER

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—If you drink, wait before you drive.

This twist on a familiar warning to drivers reflects a new approach to the problem of drunken driving taken by State Division on Alcoholism.

The new method is to provide a "driver wait meter," telling motorists how long to wait after certain drinks before taking to the road, instead of the old admonition: "If you drink don't drive."

For example:
If you drink one cocktail or highball or two beers within 15 minutes, wait a half-hour after the last drink before driving.

Two cocktails or highballs or four beers within a half-hour—wait an hour.

Three cocktails or highballs or six beers within one hour—wait two hours.

Four cocktails or highballs or eight beers within two hours—wait three hours.

Five cocktails or highballs or 10 beers within three hours—wait five hours.

The State Division on Alcoholism said the novel approach was based on alcohol research at Yale University.

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

'Much to Admire Little to Blame'

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—This was a vengeful assault against the beguilement, harmony and charm of A Midsummer Night's Dream. By the time Campbell and the cast are finished with it, Shakespeare's magically woven fantasy has been shattered into countless bits and pieces. Such havoc cannot be explained away by ignorance or inexperience. It is an act of premeditation, reflecting again the Stratford obsession that Shakespeare must be saved from himself.

The capacity crowd of 2,258 thundered with spontaneous laughter and applause as the comedy moved from antic to hilarious antic.

Mr. Campbell's praise was sung by Christopher Dofee of the Winnipeg Free Press, who writes "There is much to admire and little to blame in this dazzling play. It's churlish to point out small faults in a production as good as this one. As a matter of fact, I can't think of a single reason to complain."

Harold Whithead of the Montreal Gazette: "It was by far the best job of direction we have had over the years from Douglas Campbell. Mr. Campbell must have this wonderful play very much at heart, for his actors never faltered in their presentation of its magical blend of reality and fantasy, its raw humor and its delicacy."

MOST INVENTIVE
Herbert Whitaker of the Toronto Globe and Mail: "One of Stratford's most delightful productions Tuesday night restored to the festival theatre its remarkably high standard."

John Beaufort of the Christian Science Monitor: "This was the most inventive production of A Midsummer Night's Dream I have ever seen. It represents Mr. Campbell's direction at its best. His last scene was difficult to top."

Nathan Cohen of the Toronto Star was the only critic to take the opposite stand.

Movie Industry Suffers As Stars Make Millions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Hollywood movie industry, in trouble for years due to dwindling patronage, has been hit recently with new blows.

Bob Thomas analyzes film industry's woes in three articles, the first of which follows.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—America's most publicized industry also is its sickest.

The motion picture business is in a steady decline at a time when nearly all others are booming.

Twenty-five years ago, 80,000,000 Americans went to see a movie every week. Today, less than half that number go.

Ten years ago, there were 20,000 movie houses operating in the United States. Today, there are 11,000 plus 4,700 drive-ins.

Even so, a few stars are making more money than ever before. But not the film companies.

TRYING YEARS

Many of them have been unable to survive the trying years only by resorting to activities other than making films for theatres.

Universal-International got up off the canvas by selling its studio to the talent-TV, film, out from the producers' association. This was the first major defection since the producers banded together in 1922.

Twentieth Century Fox sold much of its property for a real estate development, and also struck oil. But its studio operation lost $3,000,000 last year.

Warner Brothers and Columbia have become TV film factories that also turn out movies.

Paramount rents space to Have Gun, Will Travel, MGM to Peter Gunn. All studios make their own TV series and all have sold old films to TV. Thus the movie industry continues to be the chief supplier to its chief competitor for patronage.

NEW CRISIS

These things have been going on for some time. Recent events have brought a new crisis of the old order: 1. Two strikes. The month-long actors' strike was costly, but the 22-week walkout by writers will have a greater effect in hobbling future production.

2. Sale of more features to TV. The strike settlements left the studios virtually free to sell their post-1948 films to TV, meaning theatres will have new competition from recent topflight films on TV.

3. Scarcity of new films. Hollywood companies have started only 60 films in the first of 1960 vs. 80 last year. And 1959 marked the lowest number of movies released by major firms—184 vs. 412 in 1957.

4. 20th Century-Fox's pull-

'An Elaborate Game Of Social Etiquette'

Curious little sidelights on anthropology were presented Tuesday by an expert, to the Canadian Club.

Dr. Douglas Leechman, Vancouver, touched on the "foot-note" approach to anthropology—bits of human behavior brought about by an endeavor to fill in leisure time by playing "an elaborate game" of social etiquette.

In Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, wives of miners, for example, emulated the monied types of New York as they found themselves with more time to spare as hubby's job changed from that of a pioneer to an employee.

They aped the fashions. "A complex ritual," said Dr. Leechman, who has a B.Sc., M.A. and Ph.D. in his subject.

TO RED
Other amusing and interesting points he made:

In certain areas of France the husband goes to bed for three days after his wife gives birth to a child.

The military salute is merely a symbol of taking off the hat as a gesture of respect and recognition.

United States military men, who salute without hats on, carry this to the point of symbolically removing a symbol which isn't there.

He touched on "ceremonial mutilations" and as an example mentioned Prairie Indians, who, years ago, when in grief bit off a finger joint.

NO CHANGE
Dinner table manners hadn't actually changed in essence for thousands of years; they merely depended on the culture involved.

In this country, Mom would not dare take Dad's place at the table, but in other places in the world nobody cares who sits where, he said.

THREE ONLY
However, in some African areas, only three fingers may be used "gently" to remove food from the common pot. Otherwise it's vulgar!

From a writer of 4,000 B.C. he quoted that "A man who permiteth his appetite to guide him is an abomination."

FULL-TORONTO TRADING

MARKET SUMMARIES

New 10-Year Low In Western Oils

Western oils took their worst beating in 10 years today as Pacific Petroleum led them down with a decline of 25 cents to 88 while Hudson's Bay was 15 cents lower at 89 1/2.

Industrials by mid-afternoon were showing some signs of a rally after the disaster of the last few days but other sections of the market remained in the doldrums.

Hudson Bay cast a deeper shadow across a mines sector that was attempting a small rally. The stock dropped 1 1/2 at 43.

Western oils followed the pace set by Pacific Petroleum with a 25-cent drop to 88 while Hudson's Bay off 15 cents at 89 1/2. Royall's gained 40 cents at 86 1/2.

Simpson's paced losers, down 1 1/2 at 27 1/2. Famous Players slipped 1 1/2 at 19 1/2 and Quebec Natural Gas fell 1 1/2 to 7 1/2.

Abitibi led winners, up 1/2 at 37 1/2.

Hudson Bay, in the mining issues, fell 1 1/2 at 43 1/2 and Noranda at 37 1/2 gained 1/2.

AT NEW YORK an uncertain market moved unevenly late today. Trading slackened.

Ampex spurred about a third of the market's advance. It dropped 2 after the company said it is not considering a stock split and ruled out a cash dividend this year.

Rails were up on average early in the day but turned mixed later. Baltimore & Ohio holding about a point of a larger gain. Steels and motors were mixed.

Hudson Bay Mining fell 1/2 and Aluminum, Ltd. was off 1/2 among Canadian stocks.

AT LONDON gilt-edged securities were depressed on the stock market today but most other issues were steady.

Oils, although opening lower, rallied later.

THIS COULD START CIRCULAR LAWN FAD!

You Unwind as Mower Winds Up

By HAL JONES

A simple but effective idea perfected by Oak Bay newspaperman Harry H. Gregson, 2160 Beach Drive, will be adopted in the near future, no doubt, by countless unenthused, astute gardeners.

Mr. Gregson's invention permits you to sit back on a warm day with a long cool drink and watch your lawn cut in a smooth, effortless manner—without having to hire a gardener.

IT'S SIMPLE

When the motor is started, the mower moves around in a circle and eventually winds itself around the central peg. By reversing the mower's direction it then proceeds to unwind itself and then re-wind itself.

"I stumbled across the idea about four weeks ago when I was experimenting in controlling the mower while holding a rope," Mr. Gregson said.

He wrote to Atco mower manufacturers in England but was told several adaptations of the idea were already on the market.

The gadget itself was made overnight by William George, well known local woodworker of 486 Garbally, and can be made commercially for as little as $7.50.

Your lawn, however, must be reasonably flat and obstacle-free. You can't expect the mower to guide itself with the corners as best you can.

By JOHN MIKA

City Hall officials are becoming alarmed that this year's budget may be "thrown for a loop" by a delay in approval of increased retail rates for water.

Victoria has applied to the Public Utilities Commission to raise the rates in Esquimalt and this year's budget is based on obtaining the approval during July.

If it doesn't come, the city faces losses of up to $123,000 this year on its water utility—which amounts to 1 1/2 of a mill.

The city completed its formal application for the increase April 21.

We received an acknowledgment from the PUC the following day but since then we have not heard a word," said one city official.

NO DECISION

A PUC spokesman said no decision has been made yet whether or not there will be a hearing held on an Esquimalt council protest against the proposed increase.

"It's a very serious thing for the city," said another City Hall official. "It could mean a deficit at the end of the year or curtailment of expenditures."

"If the decision is delayed by one month after July, it could cost us $30,000 to $40,000 in revenue and if we can't make any increase this year it means a loss of $123,000 on our budgeted revenue."

WHOLESALE PRICE

The situation began with a Greater Victoria water board increase in its wholesale price on water, supplied to the various municipalities.

Saanich and Oak Bay councils boosted retail rates to their consumers to take care of the 33 per cent wholesale increase.

Victoria also drew up a by-law for boosts in the retail prices to Victorians and to consumers in Esquimalt where the city also owns the distribution system.

But due to a legal technicality—supplying water to an outside municipality—the city and to obtain approval for its new rates in Esquimalt from the PUC like any privately-owned utility.

PAID MORE

Meanwhile, the wholesale rates went into effect as of Jan. 1 and the city so far has paid out $35,000 more for water this year than for the first half of 1959.

But it has not been able to raise the retail rates to offset the increased cost because the PUC hasn't approved the application yet.

City officials, knowing it would take some time to obtain approval, budgeted for a retail increase later in the year. So, present higher costs for wholesale water have not upset the budget.

But if the approval isn't obtained by July, the revenue loss will start eating into the council's budget for 1960.

Esquimalt blames the city for the delay, claiming it was not supplied with information supporting the rate increase when the city made its application.

The PUC blames both. A spokesman said the delay was caused by the city's failure to provide the information to Esquimalt and by Esquimalt's subsequent study of the figures for an opposing brief which still has not been filed.

MONTE ROBERTS

Isn't it wonderful, the way people are going around the streets these days.

I mean, isn't it wonderful, the way people are going around the streets, and smiling at each other, and saying "isn't it wonderful, this wonderful weather we're having."

That's what I like about the natives of this, the fairest city of them all.

Give them 30 minutes of sunshine and a gentle breeze, and they will forget all about six weeks of clouds, gales, colds-in-the-head and even—you should forgive the expression—rain.

The natives of this city are proud of their weather, and loyal to it, as well.

When the weather is not quite perfect, they ignore it. When the weather is perfect, their boasting can be heard unto the far reaches of St. Vital, Manitoba and Truro, Nova Scotia.

This applies to nearly ALL the natives of this city, including the natives who arrived here yesterday from said St. Vital or Truro.

It is a well-known fact that less than 24 hours is required to make a native son of anyone arriving here from anywhere, with the possible exception of Vancouver.

People from Vancouver are so atrophied by constant exposure to smog, fog, and grog, they are apt to be insensitive even to the charming appeal of this city.

Everyone else, though, as noted above, quickly becomes a native and just as quickly looks around for an excuse to say how wonderful the weather is, and did you know it was 30 below at Portage la Prairie?

In fact, this seems to apply even to tourists just passing through.

The other week, during one of our not-quite-perfect weather periods, I encountered a visitor from California, seated on one of the benches on Holland Point. Despite the fact the bench was protected from the wind, the gentleman was shivering visibly.

"Find it chilly?" I asked.

"No, no," he said. "Not at all. Wonderful weather, this, bracing."

"However," he said, "for really wonderful weather, you should be here in September. Or even October. Really wonderful weather then."

"You've been here before?" I asked.

"No," said the Californian, "but I'm sure the weather is really wonderful here. Especially in September."

I tell you, it's really wonderful to hear all the wonderful people telling each other about the wonderful weather we're having.

130 Clergymen Honor Prelate On Anniversary

More than 130 clergymen and their wives from many parts of Vancouver Island came to Victoria today to join in celebrations on the 25th anniversary here of Archbishop Harold E. Sexton.

The archbishop was consecrated bishop co-adjutor of British Columbia on June 29, 1935. He was the first bishop to be consecrated in the present Christ Church Cathedral.

The clergy and their wives attended Holy Communion in the cathedral this morning when the archbishop was the celebrant.

University Planners Selected

University of Victoria council today appointed a "university development board" to supervise, plan and guide its building program over the next five years.

Chairman is R. B. Wilson, top man in the university's drive for $2,500,000.

Vice-chairman is Professor Hugh Farquhar, executive assistant to Principal Harry Hickman.

STUDENT REP

A member of the student council and from the alumni will be appointed later.

Appointed as salaried member is Floyd A. Fairclough of Vancouver, who is assisting in the fund drive. He also took an active part in the Royal Jubilee Hospital fund campaign last year. He will take over his new duties on Sept. 1.

Mr. Ireland, vice-chairman of Victoria University Council, announced the new board following a meeting Tuesday of the council and Victoria business men.

The offices of the board will be opened on the university campus late this summer.

The board will integrate the total building project, allocate funds for each building and determine their location on the Lansdowne and Gordon Head campuses.

NEXT YEAR

They will include a science building and library scheduled to be under construction next year, a power plant and a student union building.

Mr. Ireland said the science building will be on the "drawing board" in a few months and construction will start next spring.

Construction of the library will follow on the heels of the science building.

The board, he said, will also carry on the duties of the campaign committee which will be disbanded at the end of July.

Mr. Ireland said the campaign committee has raised a total of $1,874,000 towards its $2,500,000 objective.

He is confident when the campaign committee completes its mopping up operation next month, and the new boards start seeking new sources for gifts and revenue, there will be sufficient money on hand to complete the expansion project.

Oldest Native Daughter Dies at 96

Mrs. Emily Elizabeth Stephenson, 309 Linden Avenue, believed to be Victoria's oldest native daughter, died here today at the age of 96.

A widow of the late Rev. F. L. Stephenson, she was an active member of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and the women's auxiliary of Christ Church Cathedral.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. G. Aileen Mills, Winnipeg, Mrs. Gwyneth C. Ashby, Victoria, Mrs. H. S. Mollie McLeod, Vancouver; one son, Col. Daryl C. Stephenson, Victoria; several grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Dunne of Duncan.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Haywards, funeral directors.

Chant Pushes Foul Bay Road Improvements

Capital Improvement District Commission is studying reconstruction of Foul Bay Road from the waterfront to the Mount Tolmie campus of the University of Victoria, with the support of Works Minister W. N. Chant.

If the plan goes through, the government likely will pay much of the cost.

"As an MLA for Victoria, I think it should be done," Mr. Chant said.

Forming a boundary between Oak Bay on the east and Victoria and Saanich on the west, the road has long been neglected, Mr. Chant said.

It has become prominent in recent months because of its position in respect to expansion plans at the university, and in some quarters it has been recommended that it be renamed "University Drive." Mr. Chant is one of those in favor of the name change.

27-Month Term For Club Attack

Gunnar Jacobsen, 30, of Victoria, today was sentenced to 27 months in the B.C. Penitentiary for breaking into a Chinese club at Port Alberni and attacking the manager.

The unemployed laborer broke into the Tin Yin Club June 16, attacked the sleeping manager, Lee Fung, tied him in his bed, and gagged him with adhesive tape.

When Jacobsen was asked by Magistrate William McLeod in Port Alberni police court what he had to say before sentence was passed, he replied "it's been a mistake, but I can't take back what I've done. It's too late."

"He's lucky he's not up on a murder charge," said Crown prosecutor Ed Dinsmore. The tape was so tightly bound around Lee's face he would have suffocated in another two minutes.

Dinsmore said "Jacobsen was being 'most unco-operative' with police by refusing to divulge the name of an accomplice."

Jacobsen was captured by police as he tried to escape through a rear door of the club, but a second man escaped by running across rooftops of adjacent buildings.

David Wong, about 30, also of Victoria, has been charged in connection with the offence, and is free on bail of $7,500. No plea has been taken, and he will appear for trial July 13.

Hotelman Pays Fine For Selling 'Brew'

Keeping a large quantity of home-made beer for sale today brought a $300 fine to Harold Stanley Holben, 1312 Government, in city police court.

Police said the manager of the New England Hotel sold a dozen bottles of the "brew" to a constable in plain clothes June 26.

Later city police and RCMP moved in and seized a large quantity of beer and equipment for making it.

Included were 360 pints, 28 quarts, 620 empty pints, 74 empty quarts, five pounds of sugar, a six-foot length of hose and a box of bottle caps.

OTHER CHARGES

At this point Magistrate William Ostler halted the evidence, saying he wanted to keep an open mind pending the possible laying of other charges.

Police also said that the accused had told them at the time of the seizure the beer comprised 20 per cent alcohol.

Filling almost an entire corner of the courtroom, the evidence consisted of dozens of cases of full and empty bottles and a quantity of maturing "brew" in an old-fashioned washing machine.

In city police court today: William Rowland, 3914 Shelbourne, $40, careless driving.

Alan C. Savage, 1710 Rockland, $35, careless driving.

James Edward Bowdige, 1449 Elford, $35, careless driving.

Moak C. King, 709 Discovery, $20, inadequate parking brake.

Keith Ross McKay, 17 Dock, $15, illegal left turn.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Last sunset ceremony of the month will be carried out at the Legislative Buildings tonight by the Victoria Squadron, RCAF cadets.

RCMP said today a quantity of goods, including a 22 rifle, was missing from a cabin on Vantreight Island in the Chatham group.

The cabin is owned by David J. Miller, 750 Fort, and other articles taken include groceries, fishing tackle, books, and painting equipment.

Paul Harry Schultz, 2914 Douglas, made a surprise request to change his plea to not guilty Tuesday in Saanich police court.

The 24-year-old man had pleaded guilty Saturday to charges of burglary and theft of $400 from Ellison Milling and Elevator Co. Ltd., 550 Cuidathel, Friday.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded the case to Thursday to consider the application.

A total of $87,063 has been raised so far in the 1960 Easter Seal Campaign of the B.C. Society for Crippled Children. The objective was $100,000.

"Donations are still coming in and it is hoped the year's objective will be met," an official said.

An elderly Victoria woman was treated for face and chest bruises at Royal Jubilee Hospital today following a car accident at 9:50 a.m.

Mrs. Sarah Dye, 73, of 4813 Townsend Drive was taken to hospital by city police after an accident at the 3000 block Douglas Street.

The 20,000-ton Orient and Pacific liner Chusan will be dressed overall when she stops off Brocton Ledge to pick up pilot, customs and immigration officials Friday.

The ship will be inbound for Vancouver from the Far East and Hawaii, and the flags will be flown to honor Dominion Day. The Chusan is due at Brocton at 11 a.m. Best view of her as she steams down the strait will be from Clover Point or King George Terrace.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have two water colors signed E. Shrapnel. ARCA. Any information you can give me regarding this artist would be greatly appreciated. G.N.

A. Edward Shrapnel, a pupil of the renowned Sir Edwin Landseer, died here in 1920. He had painted in England and in Canada, mostly in B.C. He came to Victoria in 1889 when he formed the first art club of the province. With the exception of painting a portrait of his grandfather, Henry Shrapnel, after whom the shrapnel shell got its name, he confined his work to landscapes and paintings of animals. A daughter, Miss Gladys Shrapnel, still lives in Victoria.

Nepal Protests
China Aggression

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Premier B. P. Koirala said today that one Nepali border patrol officer has been killed and 15 Nepalis captured by Chinese Communist forces operating on the border with Tibet.

His statement corrected an earlier announcement that 15 had been killed and 12 captured in the incident last week at Mustang.

Mustang lies in a valley of northwest Nepal projecting into Communist-occupied Tibet.

The government said the Chinese fired without provocation.

Home minister H. P. Upadaya told the lower house of Parliament that a strong protest has been filed with Peking, which signed a treaty of friendship with Koirala's government in March.

The agreement March 21 to demilitarize the border zone was part of the provisions between Nepal and China to define the high Himalayan border. One of a number of places where the 500-mile border is in dispute is at the Mustang projection. There were suggestions here that China might therefore contend the clash occurred on its territory.

This was what happened in clashes with Indian forces. That soured Peking's relations with New Delhi last year.

PREPARING FOR BATTLE

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—An army of nearly 200,000 Tibetan Nomads was reported to be fighting its way across Tibet today in preparation for a do-or-die battle with the Himalayan country's Chinese Communist overlords.

The Times of India said the Nomads had begun a mass migration from eastern to western Tibet, where they hoped to entrench themselves to fight the Communists. The Chinese were rushing in troop reinforcements to intercept them.

The Nomads were armed only with rifles and other small arms, the front-page report said, and were unlikely to be able to withstand the Chinese attack for long.

OWNER, 23 HORSES
DIE IN STABLE FIRETwo Others Hurt
At Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton horse owner was killed and two other persons were injured when fire swept five wooden stables at the exhibition grounds early today. Twenty-three race horses were destroyed.

Rex Ireland, 68-year-old owner and trainer, was burned to death. Mrs. Millie Pederson of Bowden, Alta., also an owner, and a stablehand, Robert McMahon, suffered burns.

Cause of the fire, one-hour blaze which broke out about 2 a.m. could not be determined immediately. Fire Chief A. J. G. Lauder said he had heard rumors that an explosion preceded the fire and these were being investigated.

The horses were at the track for the meet which opened June 18. Seventy horses were stabled in the old barns, scheduled to have been replaced next week by modern brick structures. More than 400 horses are in stables some distance from the scene of the fire.

Racing officials said today's racing events would go ahead as scheduled. Racing officials said it was difficult to assess the value of some of the horses. None was covered by insurance.

The insurance company cancelled the insurance, after paying a claim of $17,000 for the death of the man and the horses, on the grounds that Edmonton's barns could not pass inspection.

Minor burns, cuts and bruises were suffered by a dozen stablehands who attempted to rescue the horses. About 50 animals were freed.

Some stampeded to re-enter the building after they had been let loose. Others dashed wildly about the exhibition grounds and then out into the city.

Some of the horses were located as far as five miles away along the banks of the North Saskatchewan River. Two were found grazing on the lawn at city hall.

One of the horses, Royal-ende had to be shot because of serious burns. Officials said others may have to be destroyed.

Ireland died when he collapsed as he returned to his bunk for some clothing. Mrs. Pederson was burned when she rushed into the flame-filled barns for a horse. McMahon was burned as he fought his way out of the barns.

Tom Boyd of Richlea, Sask., ran through the barns awakening the occupants and then had to be forcibly restrained when he tried to re-enter to save several of his horses and his clothing which contained between $1,500 and $2,000.

Ireland was awakened by Boyd. Several men said the victim was seen walking through the smoke and flames. He appeared to return to his bunk. Firemen found his charred body near a door leading to a hallway out of the barns.

Officials of the Edmonton Exhibition Association said it may be several days before an official count is available of the number of horses killed.

These horses were known to be killed:
Hi Pagan, Mabe Me, Hobbema, Tangle Sun, Divine Blue, Gold Skies, Bobby Wishart, Super Gallant, Royal Flak, More Flak, Ann-Sickle, Sugar City, Car Fare, Procene, Loue, Slide, Polite Victory, Finale, Sun Speck, Thorny Mack, C. K. Blue, Feudal Bar, Royalonde was destroyed later.

Some of the would-be rescuers were saved only after they in turn had been forced to cling to stumps or find refuge on sandbars to keep themselves from being swept away by the current.

He said the president would write a letter to Mr. Roberts but declined to say what was in the letter.

CBC authorities are well aware that if they disclose the name to Mr. Roberts they will stir up another storm within the corporation.

PREMIER HEADS PARTY TO SUMMIT LAKE

Token Start Expected
On Northern Railway

Government, civic and railway officials today travelled to Summit Lake, 30 miles north of Prince George, to inspect the proposed birthplace of the nation's newest railway.

At least a token start on construction of the first mile of steel in the planned Pacific Northern Railway's 600-mile route to the Yukon boundary appeared imminent, with one day left before a deadline expires.

Excitement, confusion and even legal manoeuvring surrounded today's preparations for the ceremonial visit to the PNR's southern terminus.

But it seemed certain that Premier W. A. C. Bennett's participation in the trip meant that a three-year-old agreement with Axel Wenner-Gren for a construction start would be met, at least technically, before it expires Thursday.

With Mr. Bennett in the group were Lands and Forests Minister Williston, Transport Minister Wicks, Wenner-Gren representative Bernard Gore, PNR director Einar Gunder, son who also is executive vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern, PNR engineers and members of Prince George city council who joined the group after their arrival from Vancouver by air this morning.

The party boarded a PGE train at Prince George for the trip to the provincially-owned railway's terminus at Summit Lake.

There, they were to view the 95 acres which the government has permitted the PNR to use for establishing marshalling yards, two miles of interchange tracks connecting with PGE right-of-way and the first mile of PNR track heading northward.

Exactly what form the construction start would take was not revealed by any officials in the party. But a token gesture, possibly a sod-turning, was expected.

Meanwhile, the city council

Vancouver for July 6 to deal with the Prince Rupert writ.

Prince Rupert claims the PNR would hinder, rather than help, development of the north if built from Summit Lake. It wants the PNR to start at Hazelton, 150 miles east of Prince Rupert, where there is a CNR connection.

OVER 'MYSTERY WOMAN'

New Storm Brews at CBC

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Two or three key personnel within the CBC are expected to put their jobs in jeopardy by refusing to disclose the name of the anonymous woman who appeared on "Close-Up" recently discussing her activities as a divorce co-respondent.

In Ottawa CBC sources said today there was a strong possibility that "several important program people" would make an issue of the corporation being ordered by the government to disclose the name of the woman who had appeared without being identified.

This raises a real danger that the CBC may again be wracked by an internal storm

DID SHE USE ALIAS?

TORONTO (CP)—A CBC official said today the professional "other woman" interviewed recently on the television network used an alias in her dealings with the corporation and that this alias might be the only name on record.

such as hit the corporation a year ago with the cancellation of "Preview Commentary."

Revenue Minister Nowlan told the Commons Tuesday that he had forwarded a request by Ontario's Attorney-

General Kelso Roberts to the president of the CBC, Alphonse Oulmet, Mr. Roberts had asked the government to divulge the name of the woman.

Mr. Nowlan said the president of the CBC has "assured me the information would be sent to the attorney-general." However a spokesman for the CBC management today refused to state that the CBC would provide the information.

He said the president would write a letter to Mr. Roberts but declined to say what was in the letter.

CBC authorities are well aware that if they disclose the name to Mr. Roberts they will stir up another storm within the corporation.

Th' PNR problem seems t' be a question o' who'll drive th' fust spike an' who'll throw th' fust stone.

Seems th' t' free Tibet, China'll spare no expense—o' Tibetan lives.

Jist think, another 10 degrees an' summer'll be here.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES ... A recently-nominated Progressive Conservative candidate tells this tale: Travelling by auto to Penticton he made a point of stopping work crews and asking for whom they toiled ... Each promptly gave the name of the construction, excavation or road-paving firm with which he was associated.

Nearing Penticton the candidate slowed his car when he saw a youth waving a red flag, indicating men were working ahead ... The candidate stopped his car beside the youth and asked: "Who do you work for?"

"I work for Mr. Garibaldi," said the lad.

Wonder if that alias will fool the RCMP, Phil?

NO MORE 9 TO 5 ... Nobody who works for Imperial Oil in B.C. has a longer service record—45 years—than H. D. "Dudley" Foster ... District manager of Imperial for the coastal area, Mr. Foster says "au revoir" to the daily grind Friday when he begins to enjoy the fruits of the company's annuity plan.

In the five years since he was posted to Victoria, Dudley Foster has been active in community work, particularly the Community Chest ... He joined Imperial in 1915 as a clerk, worked as a salesman in Chilliwack, Vancouver and Cranbrook before becoming resident manager of the Nelson area in 1940 ... He was appointed district manager of the coastal area in 1944, moved here 11 years later.

Following his retirement, supervision of the company's sales activities in Victoria and on the coast will be undertaken directly from the marketing region office in Vancouver ... Head man there is J. D. Urquhart, sales manager.

MOMENT OF DECISION ... Two large companies will hold shareholders' meetings in the next fortnight to consider mergers ... Carleton, Ont. Ltd. has called a meeting for today to consider a proposal to sell to Western Decalite Petroleum Ltd. all its assets and undertakings ... The effect of the proposal indicates an equity value of two shares of Carleton for one of Western Decalite.

B.C. Telephone Co. shareholders will meet July 14 to consider the merger of North-west Telephone Co. with BCT ... North-west provides service in Campbell River and other parts of northern Vancouver Island, as well as other less populated centres in B.C.

BCT plans to acquire 900,000 common shares of North-west in exchange for 144,000 ordinary shares of BCT and then transfer the assets and properties of North-west to BCT. If approved by shareholders, the merger has to get the consent of the Board of Transport Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission.

SCUTTLEBUTT SCUTTLED ... A branch manager of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing was on the phone quickly after a strong rumor published here had the triple M company opening a branch in Victoria in the near future ... Said the manager: "The company is not contemplating as far as I know opening an office in Victoria. I have no doubt that it might happen. I think the business is there but it's moving slower than we first anticipated. In the long-range view, however, we are quite optimistic about Victoria's future."

WENGREN ... Continued from Page 1 ... The city says the proposed PNR route from Summit Lake to a point 100 miles north of Hazelton is almost parallel to the CNR line and claims it would be more economical to start at Hazelton and go straight north.

Continued from Page 1 ... Mr. Bennett had returned without any "bundles from Britain." The premier said "millions" were available for B.C. investment, but he has not been more specific.

"For the last few years we have been told day after day B.C. would lie down and die if we did not develop the Peace River at once and at the same time as the Columbia," said Mr. Strachan.

"The Peace, we were told, was feasibly essential and so on."

Today we are witnessing the first outward signs of the crumbling of the Wenner-Gren paper empire.

The PNR would be "as hilarious as the Kelowna bond fire if it was not for the fact that it has been a cruel hoax" on job-hunters in the Peace River area, he said.

Fine of $50 ... Saanich farmer, Thomas Byron MacNutt, 4449 George, was fined $50 in Saanich police court Tuesday for failing to slaughter three diseased cows.

The cows, condemned by federal order in November of 1959, were suffering from brucellosis. MacNutt was found guilty three weeks ago in the same court for failing to comply with the order.

Magistrate William Ostler agreed with prosecutor Kenneth Murphy's suggestion that the minimum fine be imposed "in view of the fact that you have now complied with this order."

Brucellosis is a contagious, incurable disease potentially dangerous to humans.
